The year was one of transition. Punctuated by the end of one era and the beginning of the next; it was a period in which new directions were sought and found.

These were not radical changes of course that negated the foundations of history; but, rather, a new growth firmly rooted in the foundations so ably built in the past.

Nature preserves the past and insures the promise of the future.

Yet, there was a sense of newness to the year that prevailed in the campus life and spirit as the members of the University community set out together into this new age of Eastern's development.

“Every man who rises above the common level has received two educations: the first from his teachers; the second, more personal and important, from himself.”

Edward Gibbon

The parameters of the University's next era of advancement were defined as different than those of the past. The age of rapid growth behind the institution, the current challenge became one of strengthening and complementing the programs of the robust and dynamic university.

All human wisdom is summed up in two words — wait and hope.
Alexandre Dumas

Moving In Takes Help From Everyone

Armed with suitcases, plants, pillows and clothes, Eastern students headed to school in late August. With the aid of parents and friends, students moved once more into the dorm rooms that would become home for the next nine months. Overcrowded conditions prevailed once more this year and many students were greeted by two roommates instead of one. With each trip to the car, dorm rooms began to fill with the clutter that would soon make each room reflect the personalities of the individuals that inhabited them. Within the next few days all dorms would fill with students as they prepared to begin another year.

RIGHT: Moving in can be a long process if a friend or relative can't be drafted to help. BELOW: This coed finds that checking into the dorm includes filling out forms, receiving bed sheets, and door keys. BELOW RIGHT: A helpful set of parents always seem to make the last trip to the car come a bit quicker.

Fall Registration . . . School Begins Once More

After being back on campus for only a few days, most students headed toward Alumni Coliseum to register for classes. To those who hadn't taken advantage of pre-registration in the spring, registration meant arranging class schedules, waiting in long lines, talking to advisors, and waiting in more long lines. As the hours crept by, freshmen wandered aimlessly while seniors merely shook their heads in disbelief. As registration continued, classes began to fill and students soon found themselves rearranging schedules to accommodate a few unwanted 8 o'clock classes. Eventually the battle ended and students began to wander back to campus to prepare for their new classes.

TOP: Checking class cards with the schedule book is just one more of the never ending steps that accompanies fall registration for Bobbie Sammons. BELOW: With his daughters looking on, wildlife management major, Rick McClellan, checks his class cards with student worker David Reshaw.

Friends Add To Campus Living

To see an old friend, to make a new one — that's what makes going to Eastern all worthwhile. A friendly smile, a helping hand or a shoulder to cry on are all qualities that can be found if you take time out to look for them. The little arguments that add spice to our everyday existence are important but not nearly as important as the tender moments with friends that make us complete people. It's these moments that will always be remembered.

Campus Living Adds To College Life

Dorms on campus provided students with living quarters as well as a place to make lasting friendships and amusing memories. Flooded bathrooms and noisy neighbors were as much a part of dorm life as the friendly faces and the shoulders that were always around to cry on when needed. For many students, the idea of a small cubical serving as living room, bedroom and kitchen seemed unbelievable, but as always, the dorm was the place that the majority of students turned to.

RIGHT: Studying together for an exam often turns into a late night talking session. BELOW: Although everyone knows it is prohibited, students cook many of their meals in the comfort of their room.

ABOVE: Because men's dorms don't have the added luxury of a sink in each room, the communal bathrooms are a place of many activities. LEFT: This Clay Hall resident discovers the drudgery of studying can become a bit more bearable when some music is added.

Free Spirited Students Head Off Campus For Living Space

Students living off campus enjoy the freedom of having pets, parties, a larger living area and a relaxed atmosphere that students living on campus do not. But along with this freedom the students must cope with such hassles as having the rent on time, utility bills and clean up days after the party the night before. Living off campus gives to many students their first taste of managing a household. Since the University has relaxed the policy of "must be age 21 to live off campus" due to overcrowded resident halls, more students are living off campus. Off campus living appeals to many students since they escape such rules as "no cooking in the rooms and weekly room checks."

Campus Religion Thrives

For those students interested in participating in religious activities the Newman Center, Baptist Student Union and the Welsey Foundation provided their services to the campus community.

The Newman Center serves the Catholic campus ministry and is directed by Father Kettler. The Center is in the process of constructing a new building which will be located on University Drive. Father Kettler expects to hold Mass in the new center by summer.

The Baptist Student Union, directed by Dale Adkins, is a Christian organization sponsored by the local Baptist churches. The BSU was in-involved in many projects this year which included a nine day spring break tour through Kentucky, Tennessee, and North Carolina, holding retreats and groups which traveled through the state on the weekend entertaining people with their music and puppet teams. Although the BSU holds no Sunday service they encourage members to participate in a local church service.

Directed by Eugene Strange, the Welsey Foundation serves the Methodist Ministry on campus. The Foundation is involved in community action groups, educational programs, choir and a weekly fellowship hour.

Free University

The Student Association developed a new concept in learning on ECU's campus during the 1976-77 school year. The concept — Free University — offered to those interested, courses free of charge. The classes were taught by faculty members and students. Classes being offered ranged from macramé to Volkswagen repair to yoga. Guitar, disco dancing and auto mechanics were also popular with the student body. Free University was a big success and the Student Association hopes to expand the program next year to include teachers from the community and other universities.

Student Association Sponsors Crafts Fair

Fifty craftsmen from Kentucky, Ohio, and Indiana participated in the first Arts and Crafts Fair sponsored by the Student Association on September 8. Among the crafts exhibited were paintings, jewelry, woodcrafts, macrame, pottery and leatherworks. The Fair was produced to raise money for the Scotia Memorial Scholarship Fund. Any students who has had a parent killed in a coal related accident is eligible for the $500 scholarship.

Sigma Chi Derby Begins Year

Emphasizing social, academic, and athletic achievements, Greek organizations play an important part in the total campus community. The Sigma Chi Bicentennial Derby officially opened this year's Greek activities. Seven sororities competed in the October 2 competition with the Kappa Alpha Theta's coming up as the winners.

Competition Keen At ΣΑΕ County Fair

A carnival-like atmosphere helped Greek organizations overcome a cold rainy Friday afternoon as they participated in the Sigma Alpha Epsilon County Fair. The fair gave campus fraternities and sororities a chance to get together for some friendly competition. Games such as the egg toss and blind man's football provided hours of entertainment that lasted until dark.

Competition was fierce and by the end of the fair several tie breakers had to be held. Pi Beta Phi and Kappa Delta sororities tied for first place. The Pi Phi's were declared the winners after the tie breaker was held. A three way tie among the Sigma Chi, Beta Theta Pi, and Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternities existed until the Beta's won the tie breaking relay.

Black Organizations Excel In Activities

Through the year interested students were able to turn to several black-oriented organizations for group activities. The Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority sponsored the Miss Ebony Pageant and the Barbara Hunter Scholarship. The Sorors of Delta Sigma Theta sponsored the annual Delta Week in February which was highlighted by the Mr. Esquire Pageant. The "Adopt a House Program" and "Operation Canned Goods" were projects sponsored by Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity. The brothers of Omega Psi Phi sponsored a Sickle Cell Anemia Blood test this fall as well as a memorial service for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. A non-Greek organization, the Black Student Union, sponsored a Black Arts Festival Week in February.

Learning Is A Process That Never Ceases

People come to college to get educated but not all education is found in a classroom. Many departments offer outside activities that provide informal instruction as well as a chance to utilize classroom knowledge. To those interested in expanding their knowledge in other directions many non-academic courses allow students the opportunity to work on special interests. College is filled with the usual classes in which students sit at desks and take notes from a lecturing teacher. The occasional class in which there is more activity than a scratching pen or turning page is a breath of fresh air for the college student.

ABOVE: The Music Department offers many outside activities to interested students such as the Bell Choir. LEFT: Not all classes are strictly of an educational nature.

A Moment Of Solitude Among All The Rush

College life is filled with people and classes and never ending crowds. Friendly faces and familiar happenings are all around. Occasionally a moment of solitude is necessary for a person to gather his thoughts and collect the ideas whirling in his head. The rushing stream of humanity is everywhere but sometimes a person needs to fight the current and find a place to be by himself.

TOP: A silent companion watches over this coed as she reviews for a test. LEFT: From his perch near the Powell Building, this student wears a look of concentration as he studies the people by the fountain.

Cool Weather Brings Burst of Fall Color

With the arrival of fall came a kaleidoscope of colors which blanketed the campus, transposing it into a magnificent array of deep reds, rusty browns, and sunburst yellows. The aroma and sound of fallen leaves was everywhere. It seemed to provide the perfect atmosphere for bustling fall activities, and at times seemed so beautiful that everyone took that little extra moment to gaze at the awesome splendor of nature.

But just as time passes, so must the captivating grandeur of autumn. The days grew colder and the trees became bleak skeletons as the last dry leaves fell to the ground. As the momentary distraction ended, students headed inside once more to concentrate on their studies.

RIGHT: Although the rainbow colors of fall are often a beautiful distraction, many people head to the outdoors to study. BELOW: A solitary leaf droops from a bare branch as the cold weather sets in.

Average White Band "pick up the pieces"

Average White Band brought real meaning to "Pick up the Pieces" when they entertained Eastern students in October.

When AWB opened their portion of the show with "Person to Person," the crowd came to life.

Dispite the usual accoustical problems of Alumni Coliseum AWB managed to bring the audience to its feet and keep them there throughout the concert.

Saxophone solos by Mollie Duncan and Roger Ball accent-ed every song AWB performed.

During the evening other band members were featured as solo performers which kept the audience hopping.

After the concert, lead singer Hamish Stuart explained the reason for choosing the name of the group. He explained, "It comes from an old sayin' the British used when they had India. When it was hot and the officers were sittin' around drinkin' rum, they'd say 'It's too hot for the average white man.' We just changed it to AWB."

Seals And Croft Captivate Audience

Playing to an audience of 4500, Seals and Croft made their second appearance on Eastern's campus during mid-November.

Starbuck, a seven piece band appearing with Seals and Croft, opened the night with a fifty minute set that included their current hit "Moonlight." Starbuck received a standing ovation which set the mood for Seals and Croft's appearance.

"A Summer Breeze" wafted through Alumni Coliseum as Seals and Croft took over the stage. The two performers wasted no time in capturing the audience with such songs as . . . "We May Never Pass This Way Again," "Humming Bird" and "Diamond Girl."

Despite the muddled accoustics Seals and Croft received a standing ovation and performed an encore to an appreciative audience.

Mime And Music!

During the first week in November the University Center Board brought mimeist Keith Berger to campus. After being carried through the auditorium he was sat on stage and began his performance of "Mechanical Man." "The Nightmare" and "Inside My Mind" were among the scenes he performed to a spellbound audience.

The silence was broken when the Preservation Hall Jazz Band came to Eastern in January. Their down-home New Orleans jazz brought clapping and footstomping from the audience. As the group closed their performance with "When the Saints Come Marching In," the crowd began dancing in the aisles as well as on stage.

Buffett Plays To Capacity Crowd

Dedicated fans began lining up at the doors of Brock Auditorium at 5:30. Technical difficulties prevented the doors from opening until 7:00 and by then Jimmy Buffett fans were worked up and ready to party. When the concert began a sold-out crowd watched and listened to the tanned, blond performer from Florida. Songs like "Changes in Latitudes, Changes in Attitudes," "This Hotel Room" and "Living and Dying in 3/4 Time" characterized the unusual quality of Buffett's lyrical music. Buffett was in full control of the crowded auditorium, as students swayed and clapped to his songs.

'Story Theatre' Brings Folk And Fables Together

Delightful fairy tale characters seemed to come alive and step out of the story book as "Story Theatre" opened the 1976-77 theatre season.

Using the childhood tales of the Grimm Brothers and age old Aesop Fables, "Story Theatre" presented to its audience a type of performance rarely seen at Eastern.

Wearing basic costumes of leotards and tights, the troupe of thirteen actors and actresses used suggestive costume pieces to bring their characters to life. A yellow baseball cap turned an actress into a pesky crow as easily as a striped vest and top hat transformed an actor into a crafty fox.

Although several of the ten stories seemed to be simple recreations of childhood favorites, all of the tales seemed to produce a moral in the end.

The delightful story of "Henny Penny", the hen who thought the sky was falling, showed the audiences the consequences of "not looking before you leap."

A greedy woman found out too late that wealth and happiness are not necessarily the same thing in "The Fisherman and His Wife."

The lyrics of Bob Dylan and George Harrison added a modern twist to the stories. Four unseen musicians performed well known songs such as "Here Comes the Sun" and "Dear Landlord."

“Salesman” Brings Sterling Performances To Gifford

A popular American tragedy was presented by the University Theatre department in November. Author Miller's “Death of a Salesman” was well received by the campus community and played to standing room only houses during its run.

Centered around the dreams and failures of salesman Willy Loman, the play brought to the audience the struggles of a man caught up and confused about himself and his life.

“Salesman” moved in a puzzle-like fashion until the last few moments of the play. At that point Willy's suicide plans are realized and the play comes to a disturbing halt.

Many outstanding performances were seen during “Salesman” including the portrayal of Willy and his wife Linda by veteran actor Larry Pergram and Freshman Leslie Stokes.

TOP: Willy is plagued by problems while traveling so he returns to the comfort of his home and wife.
ABOVE: “I want you boys to be well liked,” Willy tells Biff and Happy (Dan Haughey.)

City Life And Unemployment — “Second Avenue” Style

A satirical comedy introduced January theatre-goers to a different side of author Neil Simon. “The Prisoner of Second Avenue” exploited the difficulties of New York City life and the horrors of unexpected unemployment.

“Prisoner” centered around the life of advertising executive Mel Edison. The audience was introduced to him while he is being kept up by the noisy neighbors next door. At this point his life goes from bad to worse. His apartment is robbed, he loses his job, his wife loses her job and his upstairs neighbors have a nasty habit of dumping water on him while he’s on the terrace.

He eventually has a mental breakdown and his wife and family encourage him to seek professional help but the play ends with the audience wondering if it is perhaps too late.

Reader's Theater Brings A Different Drummer

In the March production of "The Night Thoreau Spent In Jail", the life of a man who "... heard the beat of a different drum" was created so that a modern day audience could appreciate this 19th century renegade. Done in Reader's Theatre style, this production showed the simple yet complicated life of Henry David Thoreau. Broadcasting major Chris Wiggington portrayed the philosophical hero who disagreed with almost everyone he came in contact with.

With a bit of history in mind, the play showed the resemblance between Thoreau and his friend Ralph Waldo Emerson. Played by Performing Arts major Dan Haughey, Emerson appeared as a dignified man who made his points with words rather than action.

Homecoming Builds Spirit

Students working long hours on floats in cold warehouses and garages, the Marching Maroons practicing in preparation for the halftime show, and organizations and Resident Halls campaigning for their Queen candidates . . . these are but a few of the pre-Homecoming activities that students participated in. Homecoming Week created an air of expectations and excitement as students decorated their dorms with the theme "Love Is . . ." A Wet Homecoming

Despite the pouring rain that dampened a few spirits, Homecoming 1976 continued as in past tradition. Homecoming Day dawned and brought showers of rain upon the crowds. The parade, featuring the Homecoming theme "Love Is . . ." was held in good spirits despite the poor weather. The Baptist Student Union won first prize for their float entitled "Eastern Making Murray Go-Round." Walters and Commonwealth Hall won first prize for originality for their float entitled "Love is the Big E-Racer." The rain ceased for the coronation of Homecoming Queen Amy Luyster, a 19 year old business major from Versailles. Rain did not dampen the effectiveness of the Colonels as they captured a victory over Murray State with a field goal in the remaining seconds of the game. The week ended with a concert featuring Bacon, Potter and Gilbrath.

Luyster Named As Queen

Miss Amy Luyster was chosen to reign as Homecoming Queen during the 1976 Homecoming festivities. A sophomore from Versailles, Kentucky, Amy is an Office Administration major with a minor in Executive Secretary.

Amy is a Resident Assistant in Case Hall and a spring pledge of Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority. She is also a Timette for Eastern's swim team and a member of the Case Hall House Council.

Swimming, reading, and traveling are just a few of Amy's hobbies.

First Runner Up: Debbie Thomas

Sponsored by Commonwealth Hall, Debbie Thomas is a twenty year old Sophomore from Shepherdsville. Majoring in Elementary Education, Debbie enjoys sewing and bike riding. She is a member of the Student Senate as well as being a Pike Calendar Girl and Sigma Nu Little Sis.

Second Runner Up: Sherri Sullivan

Hailing from Owensboro, Sherri is a Senior Law Enforcement major minoring in Corrections. She was sponsored by Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity and is the Pike Dreamgirl and a member of the Chi Omega Sorority. She enjoys dancing and skiing.

RIGHT: Zoe Roberts, a sophomore Medical Technology major enjoys collecting spoons and stamps, and horseback riding. Military Ball

The 39th Annual Military Ball was held in late February. It was attended by close to 400 people.

The theme of the ball was "Two hundred Years of Leadership." Dr. Robert R. Martin was the guest speaker.

During the evening Queen Athena and her court was chosen. Freshman Melody Kelley was named Queen Athena. A Nursing major from Radcliffe, Melody was sponsored by the Pershing Rifles.

Powell Building Is Center For Many Campus Activities

The heart of the University was the Powell Building. Situated in the center of campus, the building provides a refuge from the snow, rain and heat waves that plague many students as they trek to classes. The building houses many services essential to the campus community. The 800 seat Grill, the 1000 seat cafeteria, bowling alley, game room and assorted lounges provide something for everyone.

Student Supplies Available Through Campus Store

With the disappearance of one bookstore in town, students were left with no choice but Eastern's own University Store to fill their class needs. The store was constantly stocked with books, paper, and cards to meet the demands of its customers.

Friendly assistants were usually available during the beginning of the semester book buying rush, and were always on hand when help was needed.

However, the bookstore wasn't just a storehouse for academic supplies. The record and candy sections offered pleasant diversions for university students.

Security Guards A Part Of Campus Life

Security guards were an ever present factor of campus life. Whether sitting in the ravine, giving out tickets or directing traffic, security was constantly around mingling with students. Through the year many students worked for the Security Department to gain experience and education in the field of Law Enforcement.

Early Snows Set Christmas Mood

EKU students celebrated pre-Christmas with the traditional performance of Handel's "Messiah" and the 47th annual Hanging of the Greens. Students revealed their Holiday spirit through brightly decorated trees, colored lights strung in dorm windows and doors covered with tinsel, foil and Christmas cards. This spirit was complemented with a few snow flurries that were a brief prelude to the upcoming bitter cold of January.

Richmond — 10° — Anchorage 38° Temperature

Heavy snows combined with the bitter cold of January created a mild disaster in the Richmond area as well as throughout the state in 1977.

With the streets and sidewalks iced over and sub-zero temperatures, students and faculty braved the elements as they plowed their way to classes.

Spring registration was extended two days due to the hazardous interstates that prevented students from arriving on schedule.

Temperatures dropped as low as 12 degrees below zero and businesses curtailed hours due to the natural gas crunch. The campus, heated by coal, was more fortunate than the towns people who relied heavily on natural gas and electricity for home heat. Maintenance reported that the campus burned 3500 to 4000 tons of coal in the month of January alone.

Maintenance who kept the furnace burning on those bitter cold nights deserves a special thanks for the long hours they worked in January. Workers chipped daily at the icy sidewalks, spreading cinders, sand and de-icer only to find a fresh snowfall the following day.

Security also worked long hours during the duration removing stalled cars and filling out accident forms. Security Specialist John Goolsby said that 32 accidents were reported on campus in the month of January. Goolsby said most of the accidents were “fender bend-ers” and due to careless driving on the ice and snow.

The Infirmary reported that in January 1977 their patient census was no higher than in previous Januarys. The Health Service said that in the first two weeks of snow no accidents were reported but due to students becoming accustomed to the icy conditions a few bruises, broken bones and sprains were reported later in the month.

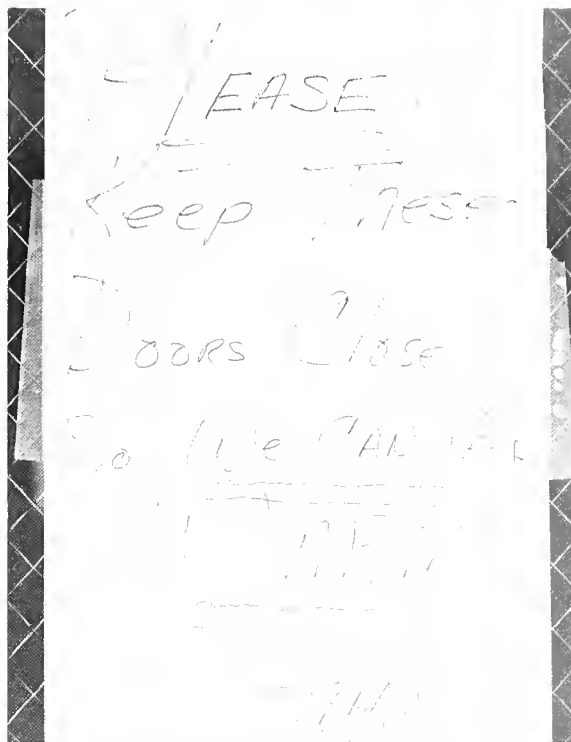

Cars stalled and refused to operate during the coldest days and tow trucks were abundant on campus. The cold confined many students indoors but a few brave souls battled the elements to construct imaginative and sometimes elaborate snow people.

dropped and it . . .

Cabin fever was relived when February brought temperatures in the fifties. Students dug out jogging attire and bicycles in efforts to trim the body of excess tissue.

Winter of '77 was a pain, to say the least, but as one student from Minnesota put it — "You haven't seen winter until you've stepped outside and been frostbit within 60 seconds."

Free Time Draws Students Outside

College life is crammed with classes and studying, so free time is always at a premium. Many students use their free time to catch up on sleep or pursue a long lost hobby.

Frequently leisure time is spent with another student who "happens to have a minute" to spare. There is, however, one time that most students manage to keep free and spend together. The time and place? Thursday night in downtown Richmond!

Downtown Is The Place To Be On Thursday Night

Drinking, dancing and having fun is what Thursday nights add up too. Since most ECU students leave on Friday to head home for the weekend, Thursday nights have become the traditional night to party. After a week of classes many students are ready to relax and wind down.

Several downtown bars cater to student interests. Although it has changed names several times, the Family Dog remains a favorite among the 18 to 21 year crowd. The Bear and the Bull and J. Sutter's Mill are also favorite spots that offer students a chance to party and socialize.

Campus Activities Build As Spring Hits

A squirrel scampers through the lush green grass. Traces of sunburns begin to occasionally appear. Bare feet are accompanied by green stains and bee stings. All of these sights are only a few of the activities that signal the coming of spring.

For many students spring became a time of rebirth after suffering from a hard winter. Students could be found everywhere on campus — from soaking in the fountain between the Powell and Wallace Buildings to quietly meditating in the ravine.

Once this spring fever hit the campus it spread like an epidemic. Outdoor activities once again took priorities over studies.

Kaliedoscope Colors Add To Spring

After the harsh winter became nothing but a memory, campus began to fill with the many beauties of spring. Flowering trees and bushes were everywhere and the fragrant scent of summer was in the air.

The bleak wet days of winter seemed a high price to pay, but the long awaited sun finally made its debut. Many classes began to lose their interest as students began to steal more moments in the sun. For graduating seniors this spring held a special meaning — the beginning of a new season and a new life.

Graduation Marks New Start For Students

As spring colors blossomed, 2,000-plus seniors entered the final days of their first four years of college life. A sense of sadness and anticipation mingled together as friends prepared to part and go their own ways. For many of these men and women, graduation was a joyous occasion which meant that now they were ready to face the ever changing world. For others, it was just a stepping stone to their goals of an even higher education.

Colonel Batters Fourth In Nation

The Eastern Kentucky University Baseball Colonels coached by Jack Hissom finished the season with ten men batting above the .300 mark, with three of those above the .400 mark. The .400 hitters were Mike Gentry, Erv Leidolf, and Steve Bass. The .300 category included Kenny Lockett, John Collins, John Thomas, Darryl Weaver, John Revere, Corky Prater and Dave Ball. The Colonels as a team hit .340.

Colonels John Thomas, Mike Gentry, Erv Leidolf, John Lisle, and Corky Prater were named to the all OVC squad. Thomas also broke the OVC stolen base record with 84 career thefts.

Although the Colonels finished the season with a record of 14-12-1 and 3-8-1 in OVC action, Coach Hissom was disappointed with the final results. He felt that injuries to key players and weak pitching were crucial factors in the poor performance of the Colonels in OVC action and hoped for improvement for the next season's action.

Netmen Undefeated In OVC Action

Coached by Tom Higgins, the Eastern Kentucky University Tennis Colonels battled their way to a very successful 13-7-1 overall record with a perfect 5-0 record in OVC action. The season began with several non-conference matches before the Colonels started their dominance of the other OVC schools.

The team consisted of four returning lettermen, seniors Gunter Bergman and Henry Shores, junior Joe Shaheen, and sophomore Kemal Anbar. The squad was rounded out by several fine recruits, including Steve Alger, who was a member of England's Junior Davis Cup Team.

Individual Efforts Spark Team Performance

The Eastern Kentucky University Track Colonels completed another successful year under the direction of Art Harvey.

The season started with two school records being broken in the first two indoor meets by Mark Yellin (1000M run) and Scott DeCandia (shot put). The record breaking trend was continued by DeCandia, Mike Howell and the two-mile relay team of Mornini, Gordon, Conger and Yellin and mile relay team of Wiggins, Robinson, Conger and Harbut.

Harriers Undergo Change

The 1975-76 season brought a new coach, a new assistant coach, scholarships, and Cross Country competition to Women's Track.

Cross country runners Paula Gaston, Jenny Utz and Vickie Renner all qualified for the AIAW National Cross Country Championship in Wisconsin.

The track team won three of the four home meets and placed fourth in the KWIC. Consistent performances by Elsie Davenport, Katie Krawiec, Sheree Davis, Rose, Mary Silvani and Bernadette Cocanougher were key factors in the high degree of success the team enjoyed.

Jenny Utz, was selected the outstanding athlete by the WOS club and track team. She was also named outstanding athlete at the Murray Invitational.

on a pass play from Ernie House to Jerome Kelley, once on a one yard plunge by House, and finally on a spectacular pass play to split end Elmo Boyd. Eastern's defense was tough as they stopped Dayton scoring drives on the one and ten yard lines and intercepted Dailey twice on the way to an Eastern 21-7 victory.

Eastern next traveled to Delaware to take on the Fighting Blue Hens. Eastern scored first on a three yard touchdown run by House, but it was all Delaware after that until the last quarter. Delaware took the kickoff after the Eastern goal and drove 81 yards for a touchdown. Delaware capitalized on four Eastern turnovers for four touchdowns and took a commanding 28 point lead going into the last period. later Stan Mitchell scampered 71 yards for another touchdown on an option play, but it was too little too late as Eastern lost 35-21.

The first home game was against the Tigers of Wittenberg, the only team to beat Delaware last season. The Colonels exercised greater care in handling the ball as they decimated the Tigers 28-0.

East Tennessee traveled to Richmond to take on the Colonels next. Play was intense all game, but the combinations of House and Boyd by air and Everett Talbert and Steve Streight on the ground proved too much for the Buccaneers as they fell 21-10.

Defense Leads OVC

Clarksville Tennessee was the site of the Eastern victory over the Governors of Austin Peay State University. The Colonels put the first points on the board with a one yard plunge by Talbert, topping off a 69-yard scoring drive. Kicker Bob Landis added six points with two field goals of 24 and 44 yards. The Governors scored late in the second half to make the half-time score 13-6. Eastern came back after the intermission and scored on a seven yard run by Talbert to end a 99-yard drive, and again on a 22 yard pass play from House to Boyd. Austin Peay completed the scoring with a goal in the fourth quarter as the Colonels emerged with a 27-13 victory.

The Blue Raiders of Middle Tennessee were the next victims of Eastern's Big Maroon Machine. The Raiders were reputed to have a powerhouse offense, but the Colonel defense quickly extinguished any thoughts of greatness the Raiders may have had by intercepting three Raider passes and recovering two fumbles. It was also a day for the Colonel's offense to shine as Jerome Kelley electrified the fans with a 30 yard end-around on the first play from scrimmage which set up a 30 yard field goal by Landis, who later made a 23-yarder. House had a fine day as he hit Boyd on an eight yard touchdown pass and scored himself on a one yard run. Talbert scored on a 29 yard run, and Mitchell completed Eastern's scoring on a 26 yard ramble as the Colonels demolished the Raiders 40-14.

The team next traveled to Bowling Green to take on arch cross-state rival Western. The Hilltoppers returned the opening kickoff 97 yards for a touchdown before the Colonels defense could dig in. Seven fumbles, four of which were lost, stalled most of the Colonel bid for points as Eastern's only score came on a two yard dive by Talbert late in the third quarter. Eastern's only other scoring threat in the second half ended in a fumble on the Western six yard line late in the fourth quarter as the Colonels fell to the Hilltoppers 10-6.

Homecoming 1976 was the theme of the game against Murray. Eastern scored first, but the Racers retaliated with a 97 yard kickoff return and later a field goal. The Colonels held after the field goal and late in the fourth quarter the defense forced a Murray safety, and then the offense marched 67 yards before Bob Landis kicked the winning field goal to insure a Colonel 12-10 win.

The last road game took the Colonels to Cookeville Tennessee to take on the Golden Eagles of Tennessee Tech. Scott McAllister scored on a short run after Ed Finella recovered a Tech fumble on the Tech 22. House then went to the air to Boyd for a six yard touchdown play, and Nelson and Mike Woods each made touchdown runs to make the final score 28-14, Eastern.

The stage was now set for the season finale against Morehead. The OVC crown and possible post season play was at stake. This was THE GAME.

Colonels Capture OVC Championship

It was a perfect day for football, with ideal weather and field conditions. Landis put the Colonels on the board first with a 24-yard field goal. Streight scored next on a one yard plunge to make the score 10-0. Morehead took the kickoff and marched to the ECU two where a heroic goal line stand forced the ball over on downs. House and the offense then took the ball 98 yards in 11 plays to score on a 14 yard pass to Nelson.

Both teams traded touchdowns in the second half, and with two minutes left, Joel Scrafton intercepted a Morehead pass on the ECU one. With this interception the Colonels set a new OVC record of 21 in a single season, and assured themselves of a win and sole possession of the OVC crown and the honor of hosting first round NCAA Division II post-season playoff action.

Nine Colonels Named All OVC

Eastern finished the regular season with eight wins, the OVC Crown, and a NCAA Division II Playoff berth for first round action.

Nine Colonels were named to the All-OVC team. They were Ernie House, Everett Talbert, Elmo Boyd, Joe Alvino, Roosevelt Kelly, also a Kodak All-American, Anthony Miller, Ron Wilson, Bobby Payne and Greg Kiracofe.

House and Talbert made OVC history as the first teammates to be named Co-Offensive Players of the Year. House amassed 1471 yards and held a .533 completion record while Talbert rushed for 986 yards to finish at EKV as the second all time rusher with a total of 3816 yards.

Elmo Boyd was named OVC Receiver of the Year and Coach Kidd was voted OVC Coach of the Year as well as Kodak College Division, District Four Coach of the Year.

Bisons Edge EKU In NCAA Playoffs

By virtue of its victory over Morehead, Eastern was chosen host team of the first round of the NCAA Division II playoffs against the visiting North Dakota State University Bisons. Playoff activities started the night before with a buffet dinner in honor of both teams, and this dinner also provided players an opportunity to meet their opposition.

3360 fans turned out to watch the Colonels take on the Bisons. The Colonel offense was listless the whole first half and NDSU's veer offense was able to score ten points against the Colonels while their defense was able to completely contain the usually prolific Eastern offense.

After the intermission the Colonels, seemingly revitalized, roared back and quickly scored a touchdown early in the third quarter on a 34 yard pass play from Ernie House to Jim Nelson. The defense also came alive as they turned the tables on NDSU and stopped every drive.

In the fourth period Eastern moved the ball well, and twice within easy field goal range, but Coach Kidd chose to go for broke both times on fourth and short and both times the NDSU defense rose to the challenge and stopped the Colonels.

The Bisons relinquished the ball for the last time on the ECU 13 with less than two minutes left, but House came out throwing and moved the ball to the NDSU 32 where Bob Landis attempted a desperation 49 yard field goal for the tie, but the kick was short and ECU fell 10-7.

Young Harriers Achieve Winning Record

Relying heavily on freshmen and sophomores, the Eastern Kentucky University Harriers boasted another winning season with a 7-1 record.

They participated in four invitational meets, taking first place at Austin Peay and EKU; and finishing second in the UK Invitational. The cross country team also raised their final standing in the tough Ohio Valley Conference by placing fourth in the championship meet.

Gymnasts Host SIGL Championships

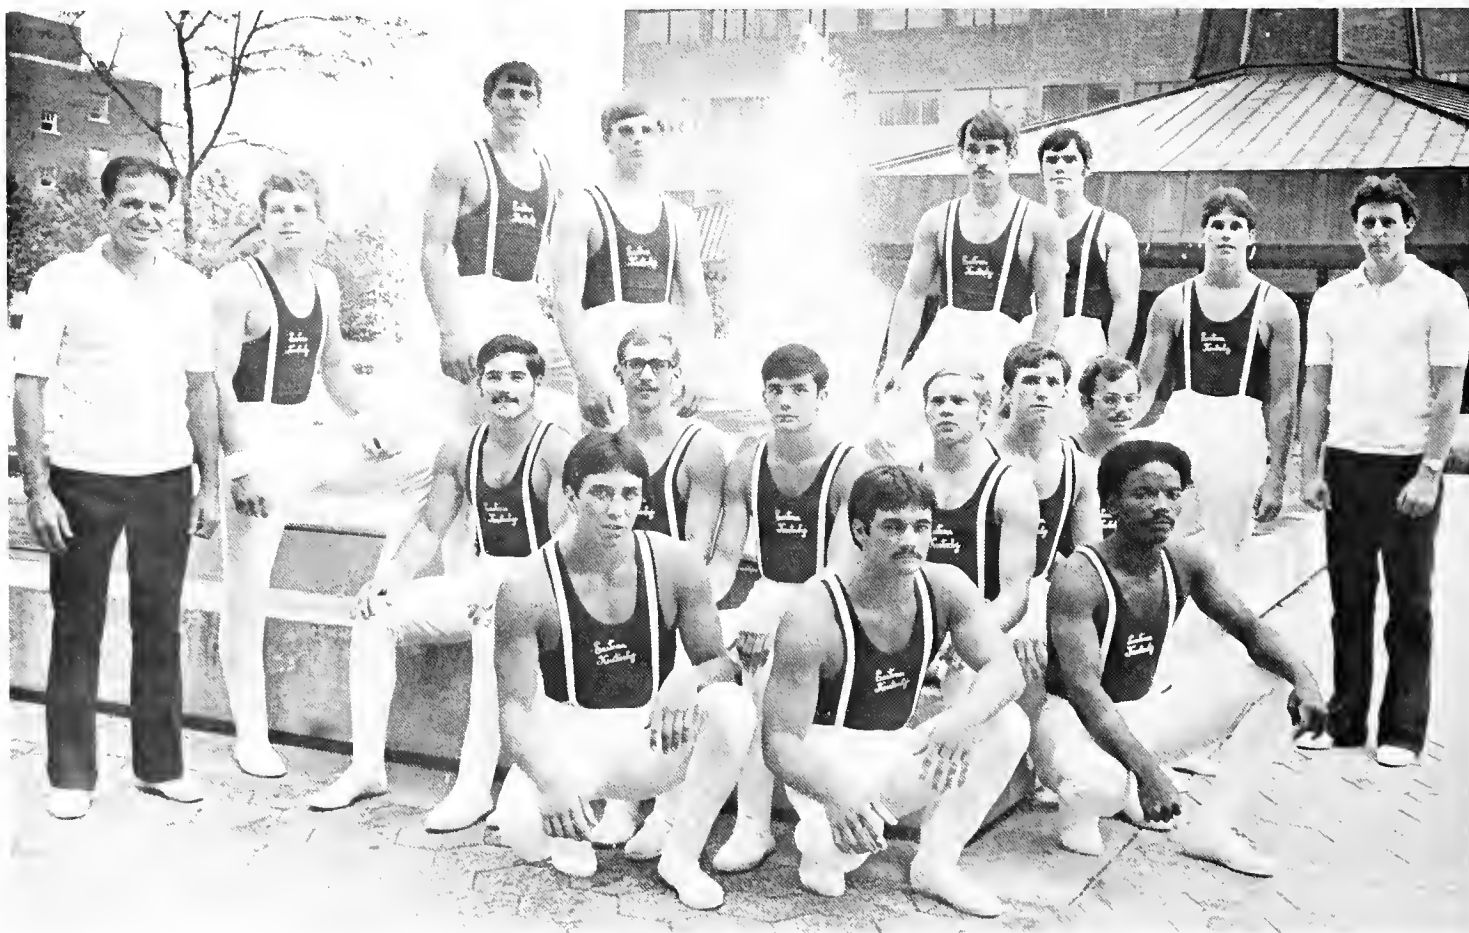

Coached by Dr. Jerry Calkin, the Men's Gymnastics Team began the season with a respectable performance at the Big Ten Classic in Indiana. Despite rough competition, the team finished with an impressive 5-2 record.

The team, including ten returning lettermen, was led on the floor by co-captains Brian Morrett and Billy Sherrill in the all-around categories. Pat Bowles and Tony Webber rounded out the all-around categories. Guy Watson, John Morrett, George Gardner and John Harkey also provided strong support to the lineup.

The season concluded with post-season action as Eastern sponsored the SIGL Championships in March.

Gymnasts Qualify For Regional Competition

The Women's Gymnastics Team had a very successful season and finished with a 5-3 record. Outstanding performances by Beth Miles and Mary Lyons and excellent support from the remaining members of the squad enabled the team to qualify for the regional meet.

Miles and Lyons were consistent 30 points per meet scorers while Janet Herr and Taryn Wells did their parts well and contributed an average of 25 points per meet. Miles placed second in the state meet in the all-around gymnast category and Lyons also did well by taking fourth in the all-around category.

Volleyball Team Competes At Nationals

A very young Women's Volleyball Team under the direction of Coach Geri Polvino finished another successful season with a 26-24 record. The squad returned only two seniors, co-captains Marcia Mueller and Velma Lehman, One Junior, and five sophomores. The remainder of the fifteen member squad consisted of first year players.

What the team lacked in experience they made up in hustle as they came back after a slow start to take second in the KWIC Tournament and qualified for both the Region II AIAW Tournament and a fourth trip to the National AIAW Championships in Houston, Texas.

Field Hockey Wins Second State Title

The Women's Field Hockey Team won the Kentucky State Championship for the second time and held a 13-3-1 record. Although returning only three seniors, Shirley Wintjen, Robbin Murray and Barbara Bowman, the team was completed by several returning players and a strong group of freshmen. New assistant coach Kathy Martin rounded out the coaching staff.

In addition to the regular games, the team also competed in the KWIC Regionals and tournaments in Virginia and Indiana University.

An innovation to the game was started with the exchange of a token made of yarn of the two schools colors. This token is meant to promote friendship as well as sportsmanship.

Young Squad Faces Season Of Rebuilding

The 1976-77 season proved to be one of rebuilding for the Colonels. The team had a new coaching staff in head coach Ed Bhyre and assistant coach Max Good. It was also a young team as evidenced by the fact there was only one returning senior.

Injuries and eligibility requirements also played a role in the team's rebuilding efforts. Darryl Young was ineligible and Bill Dwayne, Tryone Joens and Darryl Davis suffered injuries which kept them out of action for at least the first half of the season. Although these problems and injuries were extensive, fine play by reserve men provided fans with many exciting moments.

Intense Competition Characterizes Play

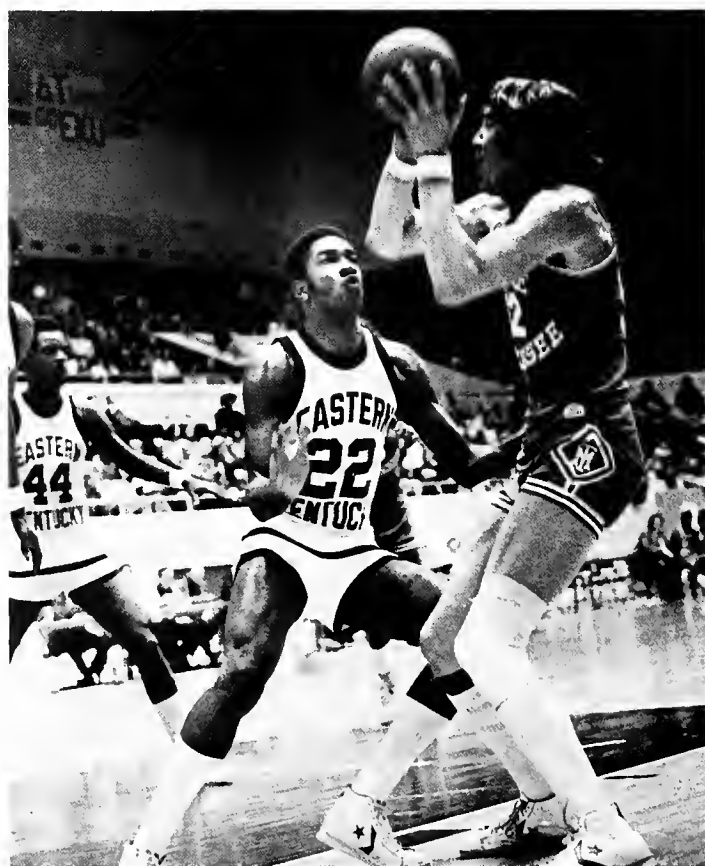

Even though the final record of the Colonels was not in favor of the win column, it did not accurately reflect the play of the team. Many a game lost by less than ten points was after the Colonels had gone into the locker room at half-time, down by twenty or more points.

Led by Dave Bootcheck and Kenny Elliot, the team very often rallied to within easy striking distance in the second half, only to have the opponent also rally in the last two minutes to stop the Colonel drive.

Mike Oliver was a leader in the rebound statistics column all season, and was a key factor in the Colonels being able to demand a healthy respect from their opponents.

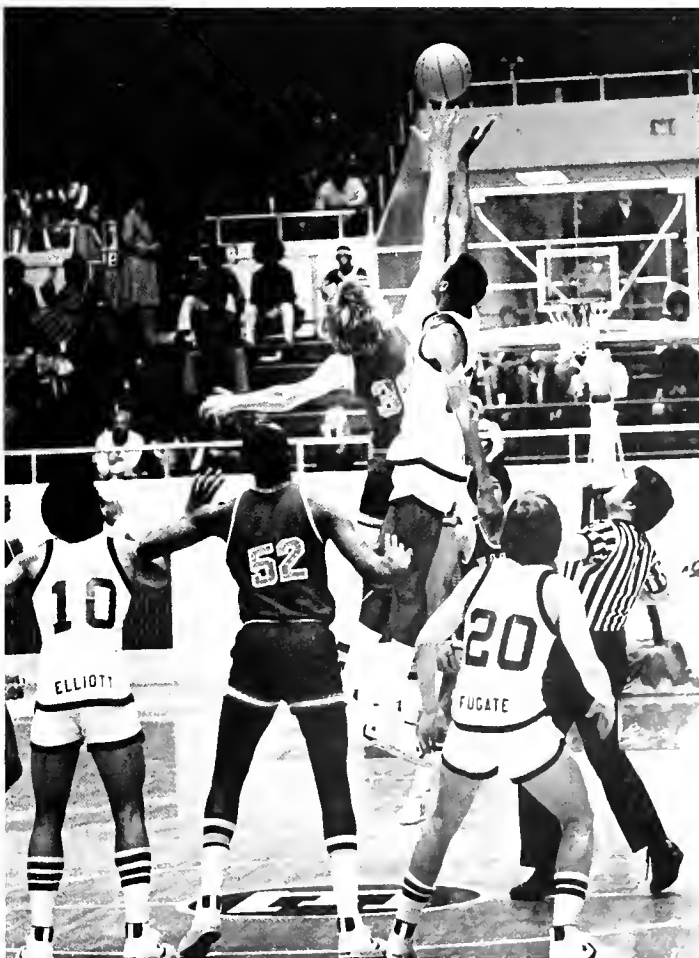

The end of the season saw a much improved Colonel game, and with all but one player eligible to return next year, Eastern fans may expect great things in the coming seasons.

Bootcheck And Elliot Pace Team In Scoring

Dave Bootcheck and Kenny Elliot proved to be the offensive one-two punch for the Colonels this season. Bootcheck led the team with a 19.7 points per game average with Elliot close behind with a 19.1 points per game average.

Elliot had the best single game scoring effort in the game against Austin Peay at Austin Peay where he scored 33 points. Elliot and Bootcheck also had high field goal games of 13 each.

Mike Oliver completed the statistics leaders when he made 14 free throws and collected 20 rebounds against Tennessee Tech.

Colonels Set Sights On Future

Even though the 1976-77 season ended with a disappointing 8-16 record, the Colonels looked upon the year as one of seasoning for the young members of the team.

Throughout the season Coach Bhyre placed back-up players into the game at critical times and they responded by doing an excellent job and kept Eastern within striking distance of the opposition.

Coach Bhyre's seasoning strategy began to show in the last four games of the season when the Colonels won three of their last four games against determined opponents, a true indication of the level of play to be expected next year.

Inside Game — Victory Key

With ten returning players, the Women's Basketball Team began the season with a spirit of optimism, but problems with the starting lineup cost the team several games and made apparant the need for a strong inside game. Many changes in the lineup and strategy were made to find the right combination, but it was not until mid-season that Jane Long came into her own to provide the needed inside strength to the squad's game.

Emma Salisbury, Peggy Gay and Cindy Lundberg also performed well, all scoring in double figures and providing good strength on the boards.

Eastern Hosts Midwest Championships

The 1976-77 season was one of rebuilding for the Eels. An inexperienced team composed primarily of freshmen and sophomores still managed to achieve a good overall record.

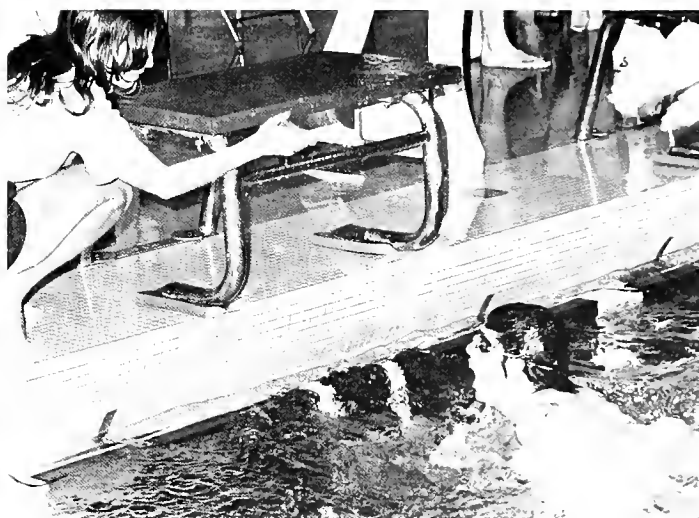

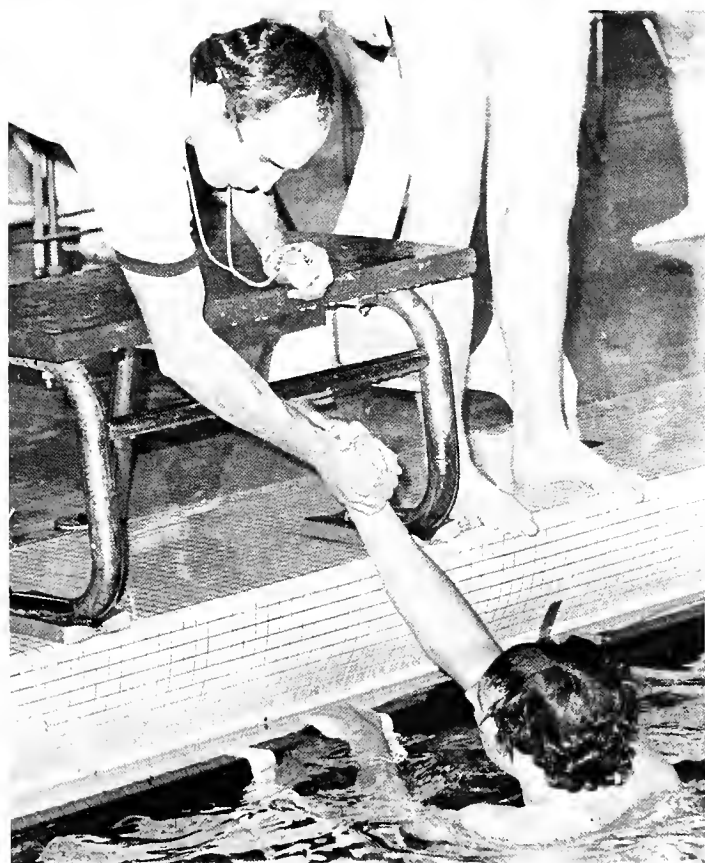

In addition to regular meets, the team participated in two invitational meets at home and Morris Harvey.

Randy Holihan ended his ECU career with his best year. He broke a pool and a team record in the 1000 yard free style with a time of 9:55.18.

The season ended in February after the Kentucky Intercollegiate Championships. Eastern also hosted the Midwest Championships in March with five independent colleges from the midwest competing.

Riflemen Take Xavier Invitational

Under the coaching of SFC Billy J. Biggs, the Varsity and ROTC Rifle Team completed another successful season with improved scores over last year, dropping only one match.

The best performance of the season was at the Xavier Invitational where the team took first place honors in both the individual and team categories. This marked the first time in the 20 years that Eastern has been competing in the prestigious meet that they have taken first place.

The high point of the season was the sectional meet of the National Rifle Association Inter-collegiate ISA. At this match the team won honors in first scholarship team, second non-scholarship team and various individual events and fired a team record high of 1701. Kevan Jones took Match Winner honors with a score of 572 of a possible 600.

Intramurals Occupy Free Time

Intramurals played an important part in the lives of many students this year. For the many active students that did not have the time to devote to varsity athletics, intramurals was the answer of how to remain active in the sports that one had an interest.

The intramural schedule was well designed this year so as to include an activity to suit almost everyone's wants. Intramural sites bristled with furious athletic competition during scheduled matches in activities that varied from ping pong to rugby. The traditional sports of flag football, basketball and softball were also offered and heavily supported.

Intramural Clubs Represent University

Intramural Sports Clubs gave many students the opportunity to represent the University in sports not offered at the varsity level.

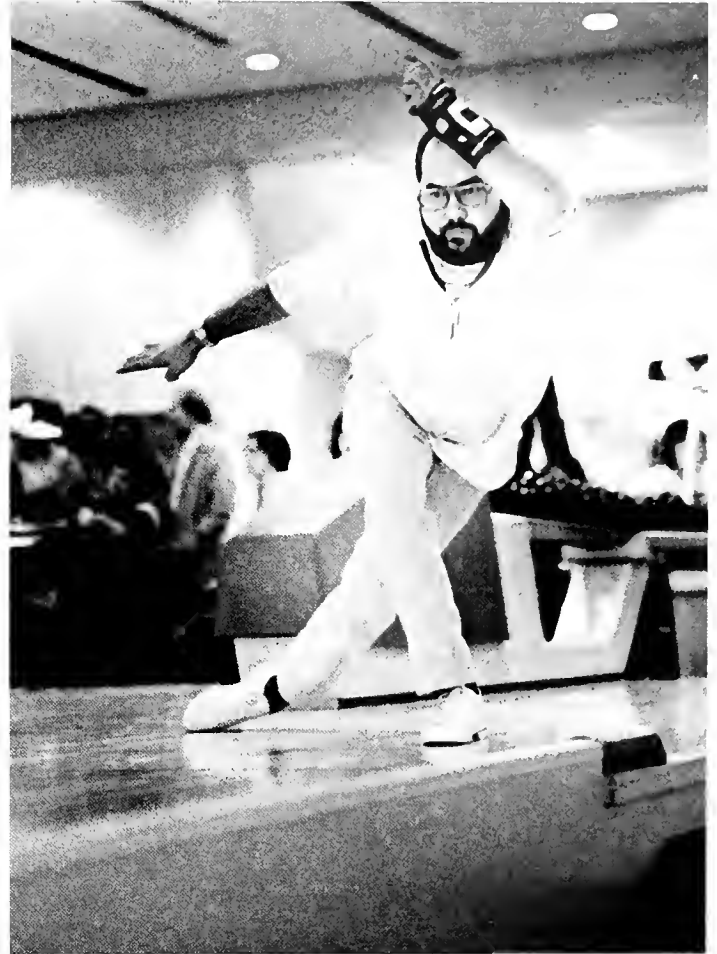

The Bowling Club sponsored a regional tournament as well as traveling to other schools to compete. The Soccer Club also enjoyed another successful year and traveled to neighboring states to compete and represent Eastern. Rugby increased in popularity and this season the club, already known for large forwards and speedy backs, completed another successful season against nine opponents. In addition to road games, the Volleyball Club sponsored the ECU Invitational Volleyball Tournament this year with ten teams from several states participating.

Carroll Attends Installation

Governor Julian M. Carroll, approaching the second legislative year in office, was the principal speaker at the installation ceremonies of Eastern's seventh president, Dr. J. C. Powell.

The state's chief executive participated in the 1976 ground breaking ceremonies for the new Carl Perkins Building which will eventually serve the University's Public Service and Special Programs' activities, and at the Robert R. Martin Tribute Dinner.

Governor Carroll granted an interview to a group of Eastern journalism students while he was attending the Governor's Conference in Washington, D.C. During the interview, he indicated that he might accept a position in the Carter administration following the completion of his tenure in office.

Board Elects New President

The primary activity of the Board of Regents this year was the election of Dr. J.C. Powell to succeed Dr. Robert R. Martin as the president of the University.

The Board elected Dr. Powell on August 14, 1976, to take office October 1, 1976, after the Presidential Search Committee of the Board nominated Dr. Powell. The Search Committee assisted by advisory panels of students and faculty, selected Dr. Powell from among 217 applicants for the job.

The Regents also approved the University biennial budget request, submitted to the Council on Public Higher Education, and okayed the internal budget of the institution for the 1977-78 year.

Mark Girard was sworn in as the ninth student regent and Mr. Robert B. Begley, Richmond, and Gerald S. May, Stanford, continued to serve as chairman and vice chairman of the Board, respectively. The Board consisted of eight members appointed to four-year terms by the Governor, one faculty regent elected to a three-year term and one student regent holding a one-year elected post.

Thank You . . .

Anne & Bob

Dr. Robert R. Martin dropped a bombshell on April 3, 1976, when he announced that he planned to retire and become President Emeritus effective September 30, 1976. With that action, he began a countdown toward the end of his administration and set in motion the Board of Regents to select his successor.

More than 1,000 persons assembled on the Eastern campus the evening of September 16 to watch the climatic end of an era in Kentucky higher education and to honor the man who shaped it. It was the occasion when the University, the Community and the Commonwealth paid tribute to Eastern's sixth president and first lady.

It was certainly one of the most prestigious groups of persons to gather in the Commonwealth to salute a retiring educator. Heading the list of those in attendance were Governor Julian Carroll and former governors Earle C. Clements and Louis B. Nunn. Others in attendance included active and former members of the ECU Board of Regents, college and university presidents from across the state, former state Superintendents of Public Instruction and many other state and local officials.

ECU Vice President for Public Affairs Donald R. Feltner was Master of Ceremonies for the Tribute and led the packed - house audience through the 16-speaker event which also featured an extensive musical program provided by students and faculty from the Department of Music.

Governor Carroll and the three former governors spoke of Martin in terms of his accomplishments in the building of Eastern. Carroll concluded his speech by saying, "Bob Martin ain't no president, he's a construction engineer."

On behalf of the Board of Regents, Chairman Robert Begley reviewed the great loves of Dr. Martin . . . "His wife Anne, the first lady of Eastern; education which he spent his entire life getting; Eastern and the Alumni; the faculty and staff; students as he loved his own children; beauty in the trees and flowers on campus; the Board of Regents and his church." This characterized the man Robert R. Martin.

In Dr. Martin's closing remarks, he said, "You have honored Anne and me far beyond our deserts."

But for those in attendance the evening seemed like a fitting salute to the Martins. It was another reflection of the "Think Big" philosophy that Robert Martin incorporated in his 16-year tenure as president. These words behind the intense institutional pride and direction was Robert R. Martin's legacy to Eastern.

DR. J. C. POWELL

"He is an intensely loyal person. I know he has the training and ability to make a great president for this university. I know he has enough love for Eastern to give the institution the continuity it needs, and he also has enough love to give it the change that it needs." Dr. Robert R. Martin said at his final Board of Regents meeting on September 30, 1977, of his successor.

Dr. Julius C. Powell began his tenure as the seventh president of Eastern Kentucky University on October 1, 1977, succeeding Dr. Robert R. Martin. President Powell was elected to follow Dr. Martin by the University Board of Regents on August 14 after receiving the unanimous endorsement of the Regents' six member Presidential Search Committee who selected President Powell from a group of 217 applicants.

In his role at Eastern for 16-and-a-quarter years, Dr. Powell served effectively and helped to formulate policies at both the institutional and state levels, to establish and maintain contacts that were essential in the conduct of today's modern university and learned Eastern and its many aspects, literally from the inside out. In his two decade relationship with his predecessor, Dr. Powell has served as chief administrative staff officer to Dr. Martin since they both arrived on campus July 1, 1960 and prior to then, he served with him when he was State Superintendent of Public Instruction for three years in the Kentucky Department of Public Education.

A native of Harrodsburg, Kentucky, Dr. Powell attended both elementary and secondary school, graduating from Harrodsburg High School in 1944, he was graduated with distinction from the University of Kentucky in 1950, receiving the Bachelor of Arts degree majoring in math with an area in social science.

He was awarded the Master of Education degree in administration from the University of Louisville in 1952 and while serving at Eastern, earned the Doctor of Education degree from the University of Kentucky in 1970.

The Eastern President enlisted in the U.S. Army September 27, 1944, shortly after completing his undergraduate studies at University of Kentucky. He was discharged on October 30, 1946 with the rank of Sergeant.

From 1950-57, Dr. Powell served in the Louisville Public Schools as teacher of mathematics at Atherton High School, assistant director of curriculum, director of instructional services and assistant to the superintendent.

He was divisional director of the Kentucky Department of Education from July 1, 1957 until July 1960, a post that required responsibilities for pupil accounting and public school fund distribution under the Foundation Program. It was this program which Dr. Martin drafted and worked for enactment by the General Assembly.

On July 1, 1960, Dr. Powell came to Eastern with the newly elected sixth president of the University — President Martin to begin his 16 year tenure. While working under Dr. Martin, President Powell served as Executive Assistant and has served since as Dean of Business Affairs, Executive Dean and Vice President for Administration with the academic rank of professor of education. During his 16-year tenure as President Martin's chief aide in administrative and financial affairs, Dr. Powell learned the institution in all its various aspects. "I have a feeling for its future," he says, "and recognize some of the problems which will accompany its further development."

The seventh president of Eastern, Dr. Julius C. Powell possesses a deep feeling for Eastern and knows well its direction and goals. He plans not to alter this direction and these primary goals which have been so painstakingly developed. Rather, he has a strong determination to guard Eastern's national reputation as a leader in higher education, even to enhance this position through continued improvement of quality of teaching and public service, seeking still further ways to serve the region effectively and efficiently.

He sees his presidency as one which will have as its main thrust emphasis on program quality. He will be an administrator that will direct the further maturing of Eastern as a university. He views this to mean taking a hard look at the many programs which developed during the boom years of the 60's and early 70's, continuing, and where possible, improving the strong ones while identifying the weak ones which need to be strengthened or eliminated. He has said that he realizes and asks people to accept the fact that he's not a carbon copy of Dr. Martin. In other words, he is saying that he has "his own style."

He recognizes that his efforts will be to build on the solid background which has been developed for Eastern but says, "This is a new day and we're going on from here."

Assumes His Duties

The Transition

Dr. Robert R. Martin began his tenure as Eastern's sixth president on November 17, 1960, the first Eastern graduate to obtain the position of president of his Alma Mater. During his inauguration speech, Dr. Martin outlined a step-by-step plan for the expansion of the University while he was in office. Dr. Martin's plan was entitled 'A Vision of Greatness' and through the years this vision of greatness was carefully implemented by the meticulous planning of Dr. Martin.

In his inauguration address, Dr. Martin outlined 16 goals to be accomplished during his administration. These points were:

- 1) To understand, as a college, the vital connection between education and the development of American Democracy
- 2) Realize the importance of what we do and what colleges will do after we are gone
- 3) Not lose sight of or neglect our historical mission of training teachers for the schools of our nation, even though Eastern is becoming a more and more multi-purpose institution
- 4) Meet our obligation to see that every student understands the true nature of communism and the threat that it holds to those values and virtues which have made and kept us a free people
- 5) Continue to develop an intellectual community
- 6) See that our curriculum is such to give students the basic concepts in their fields of knowledge and the special techniques needed for the mastery of their field

- 7) Inspire and motivate each student through superior teaching and counseling
- 8) See that no one leaves our halls without the ability to communicate effectively, both orally and written

- 9) See that no student leaves without an understanding of man and his aspirations, without knowledge of history of the human race, the role of religion and evolution of political, economic and social forces
- 10) Accept as part of our purpose the development of self-esteem and the achievement of dignity of each individual

- 11) Help each student to realize that individual liberty and freedom can only come through the acceptance of rules of behavior and codes of law
- 12) Help each student underpin his knowledge and understanding in his specialty with the rock of moral values with which he can meet the shock of changes that will take place

- 13) Expand our facilities in order that we may take care of our reasonable portion of young Americans who will knock on these doors for admission

- 14) Realize there is no alternative to becoming more inventive, creative and imaginative in our use of human and material resources which are available
- 15) Provide on this campus a place of beauty for gracious and stimulating living
- 16) Have the knowledge to judge what needs to be changed, the courage to change it, the serenity to accept what cannot be changed and the wisdom to know the differences

Dr. Powell, who has worked side by side with Dr. Martin since 1957, shares many of Dr. Martin's views on education and the University. In his inauguration speech, Dr. Powell indicated that he would follow the course of pursuit the University was already following because it was one of dynamism and responsiveness. Dr. Powell felt that changing times would force the University toward a non-traditional college curricula. Changing demands for specialized training in technical areas, law enforcement, health and other emerging fields as well as the traditional subjects must be met. Undergraduate and graduate programs must be refined so that Eastern's graduates will be of recognized competency and quality.

Under Dr. Powell's leadership, Eastern will further mature as a University with the emphasis on program quality.

Whitlock Appointed Executive Assistant

Doug Whitlock, a member of the University's public affairs staff since 1968 left his position as Director of Public Information to become President Powell's executive assistant effective October 1.

In his new role, he worked closely with the President during this first year of the new administration and assumed the committee membership responsibilities held by Dr. Powell in his former position as Vice President for Administration.

He also chaired committees formed to secure a new Director of Safety and Security and to study the University's requirements in the area of processing, copying and duplicating.

New Programs Broaden Academics

Dr. John D. Rowlett, the Vice President for Academic affairs and Research, who also serves as the Dean of the Faculties, was highly instrumental in the development of new academic programs designed to serve changing educational needs of the service region. Dr. Rowlett's basic occupational duties included supervision of the preparation of position specifications for instructional staff and administrative personnel connected with instructional activities, making of recommendations to the President concerning staff needs and appointments, promotions, or dismissals of all instructional personnel and administrative personnel related to instruction, preparation of the academic calendar, class schedule, textbook adoption, and the schedule of examinations, and acting as Chairman of the Council of Academic Affairs.

At the beginning of the school year, Dr. Rowlett was rewarded for his efforts in establishing the nurse education and Allied Health programs when the John D. Rowlett Building was dedicated.

Sexton Continues With Growth

Dr. William Sexton finished his second year as Vice President of Public Service and Special Programs at the close of this academic year. Overseeing the activities concerning the Division of Continuing Education, the Division of Special Programs, the Division of Data Processing, the Division of Television and Radio, Vice President Sexton instigated the development and growth of these divisions. With stress shifted from academic to public service, the University community worked with the faculty in the development of the curriculum in the programs. Related to the needs of the public, short term special activities represented areas of computers and banking applications, computers and accounting applications, income property valuation, export opportunities for Kentucky businesses, management development programs, and the role of women in criminal justice.

Sexton worked hand and hand throughout the year with the architects and construction workers with the proposal of the Carl D. Perkins Building which upon completion in the late fall of 1977 will house the services which are under Sexton's jurisdiction.

Public Affairs Stages Major Events

The Office of Public Affairs was headed by Vice President Donald R. Feltner. Organized into four-divisions, Public Affairs played a vital role in the university year. The office organized important events such as the installation of Dr. J. C. Powell as seventh president of the university and the Robert R. Martin tribute dinner. Other special events were sponsored by Public Affairs included the Greg Adams Building Dedication, Homecoming and Alumni Day.

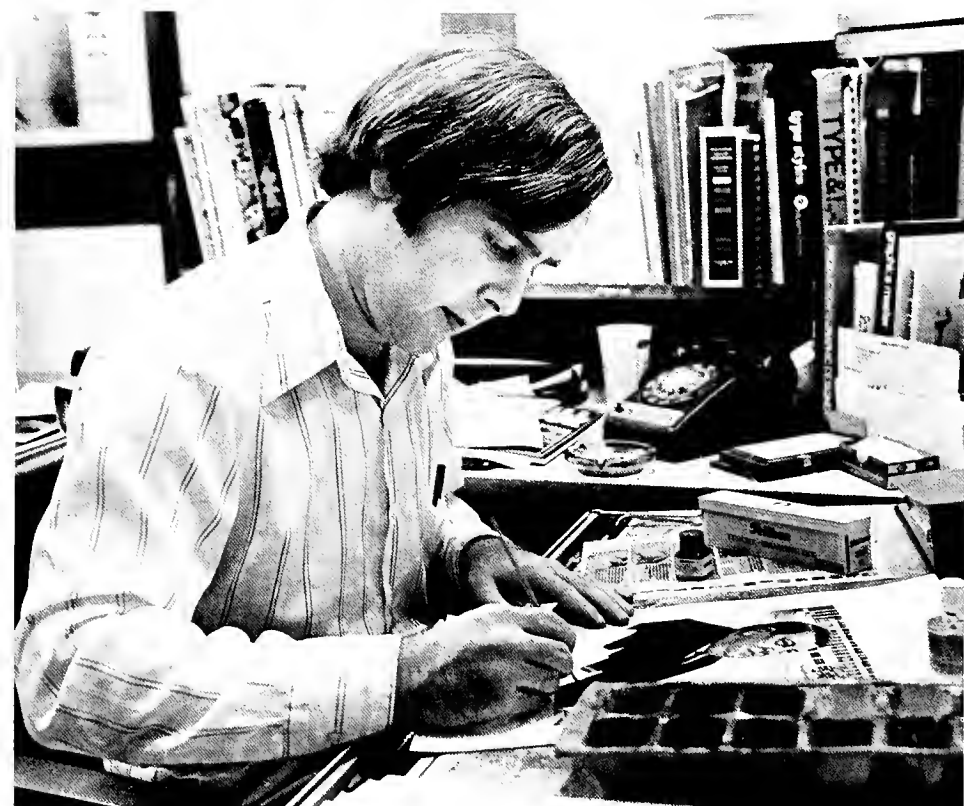

The Division of Public Information, one of the departments in Public Affairs, recognized an important year as a major reorganization took place with John Winnecke being named director of the office. Larry Bailey was named his assistant and Jack Frost was added as feature editor. Public Information was responsible for university news and publications and supervised the production of various books and pamphlets.

Placement, headed by John Vickers, once again continued its efforts to further serve students, alumni and potential employers.

University School Relations was responsible for carrying out various programs such as Band Camp in the summer, Band Day in the fall and programs for speech, drama, debate and music in the spring.

The Division of Alumni Affairs coordinated Homecoming and Alumni Day and managed the program of serving the university's more than 30,000 graduates.

Indoor Tennis Facility Constructed

The implementation of cost-saving measures planned to maintain the business and logistical services of the University at a high level during inflationary times, occupied a large portion of the attention of Neal Donaldson, ECU's Vice President for Business Affairs.

The Office of Business Affairs provided all business related services necessary for the proper operation of the university in the areas of accounting and budgetary control, purchases and stores, personnel and institution services, buildings and grounds, the bursar and controller, golf course operation, the divisions of food service and housing, and the university stores and farms.

With an emphasis on its supervision of construction, projects included the construction of an indoor tennis court, an addition to the Carter Building, a lodge at Maywoods in Rockcastle County, a maintenance storage building at the Donaldson Service Complex, a parking at Telford Hall. To help the overcrowded housing situations, rooms were added to the basement to Combs Hall.

Carter Health Services Completed

Dr. Thomas D. Myers, Vice President for Student Affairs, supervised expanded programs in dormitory activities and summer orientation, which highlighted the broad scope of student-oriented programs and services.

The Ellendale Counseling Center continued to serve as an outlet for student frustrations. Seminars were also conducted to aid students in the area of an undecided major to seek an area suited to them.

Planning in the area of student health services came to a climax with the completion and opening of the Tim Lee Carter Health Service located in the John D. Rowlett Building.

Guided by Kelly Brunker and David Wiles, residential halls sponsored over 250 programs of educational, social recreational and cultural natures. The Residence Hall Programs for the second year provided students with a list of available jobs for the summer and assisted in the completing and mailing of the applications.

Dedications Reward Faithful Service

Eastern Kentucky formally dedicated the John D. Rowlett building on August 22, 1976. The health education and services facility housed the two-year and four-year nursing degree programs, the environmental sanitation programs, student health services, and other programs in the College of Allied Health and Nursing.

The building was named for Eastern's vice president for academic affairs and research and dean of the faculties. Dr. Rowlett has been at Eastern for 25 years, beginning as a teacher in the department of industrial arts and progressing to the administrative level. He was instrumental in the establishment and growth of nurse education and allied health programs.

One of the high points of the Eastern Kentucky Tribute Day to Dr. Robert R. Martin came at the unveiling of the sign at the entrance of the Law Enforcement Complex. Commemorating the work that President Martin did for Eastern during his 16 year tenure, the Law Enforcement Complex named for the President will be dedicated on Alumni Day 1977. As an extra touch, the sign at the entrance way, was unveiled by President Martin and the First Lady.

The Greg Adams Building, a unique structure designed for indoor tennis play was dedicated on February 25. The building was named for Greg Adams, a Richmond youth who was a ranking state and national teenage tennis player before a severe athletic injury ended his sports career.

The building is one of only five such institutionally owned tennis facilities on a college or university campus in the United States and one of only three used exclusively for tennis.

New Undergraduate Dean Appointed

Dr. Joseph Schwendeman, former chairman of the Department of Geography, became Dean for Undergraduate Studies January 1, and began work toward implementation of a new program of academic advising and monitoring of undergraduate student progress that will become effective in the Fall of 1977.

The Central University advising function will become the responsibility of the new office as will counseling for undecided major students.

The Undergraduate Dean, as approved by the Board of Regents, will also play a major role in the development of the undergraduate catalog and class schedule bulletins.

CUC Prepares For Reorganization

Central University College, directed by Dean Clyde J. Lewis, prepared for a major organizational change that was scheduled to go into effect with the fall of 1977.

CUC supervised the academic program of baccalaureate program students during their freshman and sophomore years and conducted academic advising for these and undecided major students — all functions which will be transferred to the Office of Undergraduate Studies.

Another part of the approved reorganization will transfer the General Studies English, Science and Physical Education programs to other colleges.

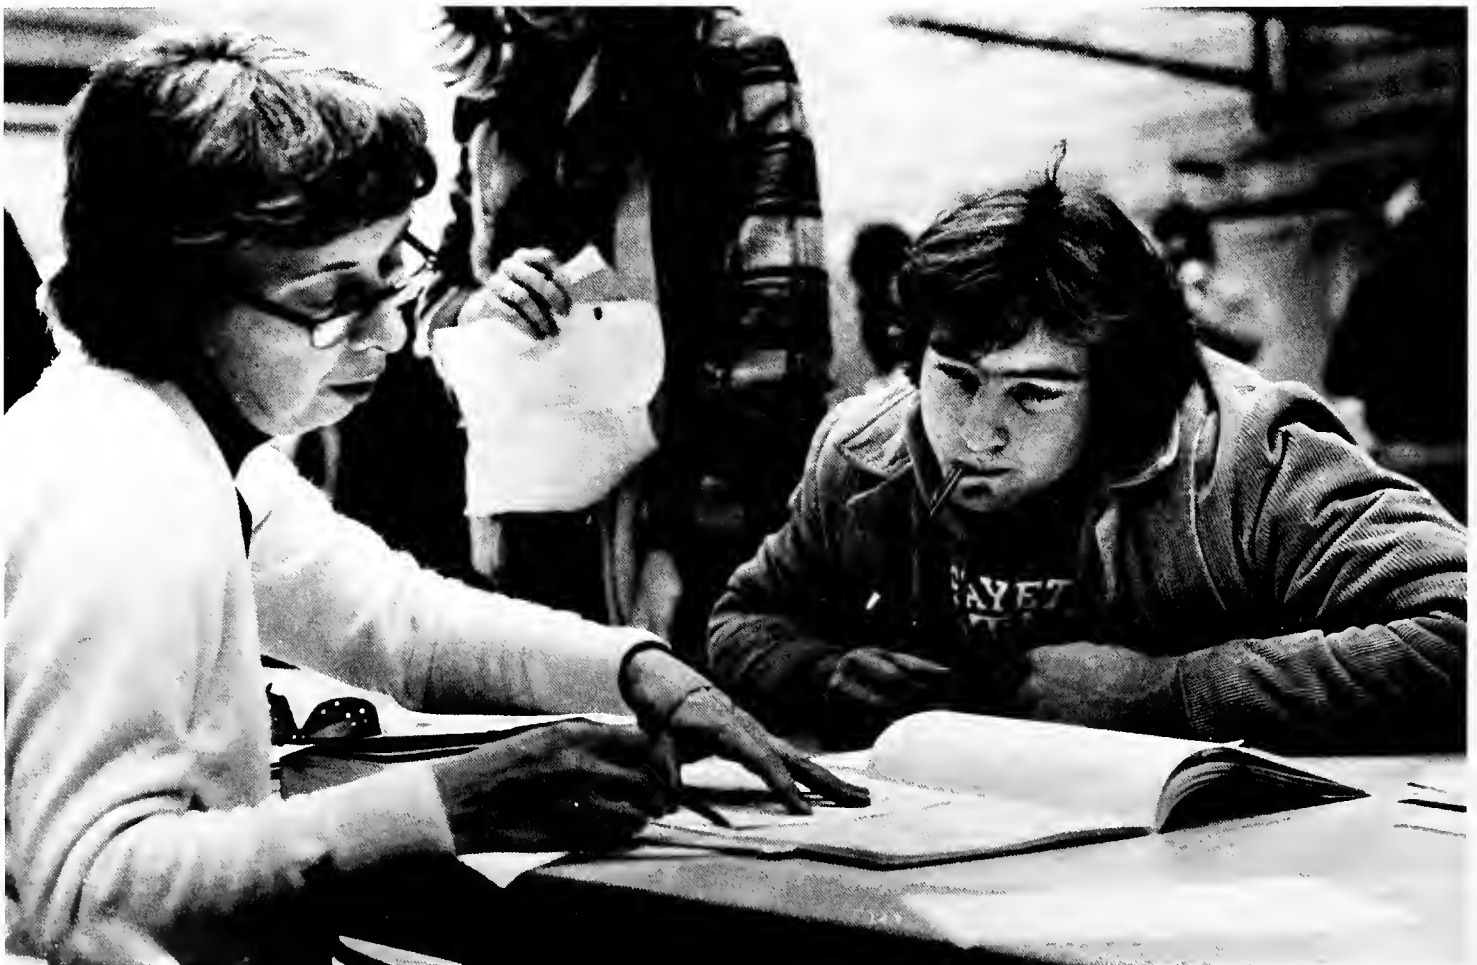

CUC will retain the social science, humanities, military science and learning laboratory functions in its college structure.

Arts & Sciences Remains Largest College

The College of Arts and Science, under the direction of Dean Frederic D. Ogden, recognized as its role the necessity of providing a liberal education for students and helping them prepare for life in the cultural setting which they will practice their vocations and professions.

Combination of the 17 departments in the college of Arts and Science makes it the largest in the university. Maintaining the basic elements of the liberal arts program, new courses and degrees were offered adopting new trends taking place in the areas of art, communications, drama, political science, mathematics and chemistry. Cooperative study programs were made available for students and granted academic awards for on-the-job training and experience.

The college offered associate and baccalaureate degrees in all of the liberal arts and scientific areas of study. It also offered instructions in helping to prepare students for professional fields.

Business Adds Insurance Major

The College of Business moved forward in several of its programs this year as additional faculty, equipment, scholarships and support from the business community was realized. The purchase of a new mini-computer permitted the use of computer-assisted instruction in several courses. A Masters option in the real estate area was added to the MBA program. The insurance program was completely restructured and a nationally recognized insurance educator, Dr. Ron Horn, was added to the staff as the Chairholder of Insurance Studies.

This year the college had numerous programs with businesses such as 3-M Company, Clark Equipment Company, Hyster Forklift, and Goodyear. These programs resulted in achieving better industry contacts and the strengthening of faculty involvement.

The courses comprising the "common body of knowledge which all business students take now includes" Introduction to Data Processing. This was because of an increased interest in the data processing area, the number of students majoring in this field and those students taking data processing as an elective course.

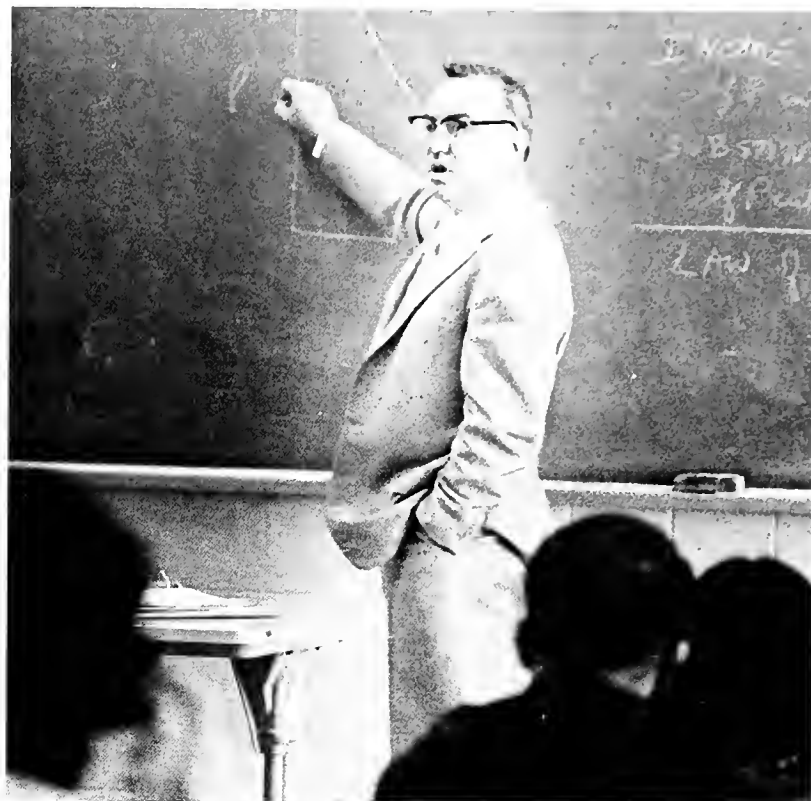

New faculty for the year were added in the areas of Accounting, Economics, Business Education and Office Administration, Insurance, Management, Real Estate and Data Processing. The new faculty combined with the special programs and services helped make the College of Business an important integrate part of the University.

Department Offers Workshops

The College of Education, headed by Dean Dixon A. Barr, carried on the "teaching college" tradition providing Eastern with one third of the students of its graduating class. Dean Barr introduced the college to new courses, new programs and workshop offerings.

As a whole, graduate enrollment increased while undergraduate rolls stabilized due to the flood of teachers in today's job market. However, interest in non-teaching and specialized areas rose.

The curriculum offered by the college developed as it met the needs of students who desired to become teachers, principals, guidance counselors, school librarians, and superintendents.

In the department of Education, under chairman Dr. William Morris, plans were developed to continue the summer graduate workshops. The Right To Read Program again received a third year federal grant for continuation of the program.

AA & T Incorporates Instructional Media

The College of Applied Arts and Technology had as its objectives this year to provide selected instructional programs for the preparation of students for careers in the applied arts and technologies. The college strived to contribute to the professional growth of individuals in their fields of study and to the elevation of technical disciplines through public service.

The college, headed by Dean Kenneth S. Hansson, set as its goal to intensify and broaden the base of knowledge within the applied arts and technologies through research.

The Department of Industrial Education and Technology administered baccalaureate degree programs to prepare industrial arts teachers for secondary schools, vocational-industrial and technical teachers for vocational-technical schools, manual arts therapists, and technicians and technologists for industry. Associate of Arts degree programs were offered in vocational-industrial and technical educational areas.

The college sought to fulfill its purpose related to instruction of offering a variety of associate, baccalaureate, masters, and specialist degree programs in three departments: Agriculture, Home Economics, and Industrial Education and Technology. Each of the departments in the College of Applied Arts and Technology proved to be versatile in continuing to meet the needs of the ever increasing, complex labor market.

Nursing Completes Year In Building

The Allied Health and Nursing Programs comprise an academic community which had as its major objective to educate and train students in the various health disciplines to provide graduates who were prepared to better develop health care programs. The college under the guidance of Dean David D. Gale was committed to provide personnel for new patterns of health care delivery to meet the challenges of a growing complex society.

Programs in Allied Health and Nursing were designed for students to meet necessary credentialing requirements for successful employment in their chosen health field. Students were given the opportunity to work in laboratories in the John D. Rowlett Building that were equipped to provide simulator situations. The students were provided with supervised clinical practice and on-the-job experiences. This year the college had contractual agreements with major health institutions in the central region of Kentucky, including all of the acute care facilities in Lexington.

The instructors that taught in the college of Applied Health and Nursing this year had obtained academic degrees in the disciplines in which they taught as well as having fulfilling a requirement of having served as clinicians.

The College completed its first year in the new building successfully. Further expansion was planned and a constant effort in improving the College in general was implicated into its goals.

LEN Offers Criminal Justice Coursework

Under the leadership of Dean Robert W. Posey, the College of Law Enforcement completed another year of meeting the needs of agencies in the public safety sector of society by preparing students for careers within the area. The college prepared students for teaching and administrative careers in law enforcement, traffic safety and fire safety. Research was carried out by the college in the areas of driver and traffic safety and fire safety.

One of its main goals this year was to provide public and consultative service programs pertinent to law enforcement, driver and traffic safety, and fire safety to public and private police agencies, probation and parole agencies and correctional institutes.

The college sought to fulfill its purpose by offering Associate, Baccalaureate and Masters Degree programs in almost every aspect of the Law Enforcement profession.

The College of Law Enforcement continued to furnish lectures for the department of Justice, Bureau of Training.

Grad School Enrollment Increases

The Graduate School carried out its fourth year under the direction of Dean Charles H. Gibson. This year the school encountered an increase in enrollment while maintaining the quality of its programs and continuing to strive for an improved graduate program. Students entered Graduate School to continue studies and to engage in programs for the purpose of improving themselves scholastically and occupationally. The school offers nine separate degrees and had work available for a doctoral degree in cooperation with three other institutions of higher learning.

This year the Graduate School put emphasis on internal quality control on every aspect of its various programs. Evaluations were undertaken to review all of the schools existing programs. Areas of interest under study were financial budgets, faculty members, library facilities and student interests and enrollment. The school concentrated its efforts on the improving of the curriculum offered in the programs that were available.

Lois Coulter Hall of Fame Winner

Lois Ann Coulter, a mathematics and physics major from Bloomfield, Kentucky, was the 16th recipient of the Hall of Fame Award, the top honor presented by the University. As always, the winner was selected by a secret presidential committee from seven nominees submitted by the Deans of each respective college. The choice of the committee was based on high academic and social standards. She had maintained a 3.99 academic average during her college career.

Through her wide participation in extra-curricular activities as well as in her studies, Ms. Coulter proved that she was eminently worthy of this distinction. She served as president of Kappa Mu Epsilon, the national mathematics honorary; and was extensively involved in the tutorial program sponsored by that organization.

Lois was elected to the senior women's honor society, Collegiate Pentacle and was co-chairman of its cultural committee. In addition, she was an active member of the Student National Education Association and, locally, the Baptist Student Union.

She also helped plan Math Day activities and volunteered to be a guide for high school groups visiting the campus.

Honor Roll Nominees Recognized

Four persons were nominated by their respective college Deans for the 1977 Honor Roll. From these nominees the 1977 student for the Hall of Fame was chosen by a special committee appointed by President J. C. Powell. The Honor Roll recipients were Lois Coulter, Karen J. Wires, Chris Reynolds and Robin Brumfield. Nominations were based on academic achievements and campus and extra curricular activities.

Karen J. Wires was selected by the College of Law Enforcement as its outstanding senior for the Honor Roll. With a major in Corrections and a double minor in Rehabilitation and Social Work she maintained a 3.88 GPA. Karen was active in the Association of Law Enforcement, Alpha Phi Sigma and the Newman Club. Her plans for the future are for work as a treatment officer in a prison system with long range hopes for a law career.

Chris Reynolds was selected by the College of Arts and Sciences for the Honor Roll, her major being Psychology and her minor being English. She graduated with a grade point average of 3.367. Chris took an active part in several organizations, including the Lambda Sigma Society, College Pentacle, Kappa Delta Pi, Psi Chi, and CWENS. She also worked in several public service projects such as the Cancer Crusade and the Special Olympics.

Honor Roll Winners Typify Best Students

The College of Applied Arts and Technology nominated Robin Brumfield as their candidate to the 1977 Honor Roll. Robin was an Ornamental Horticulture major with a G.P.A. of 3.97. She participated in the Future Farmers Of America Work Experience Program and was awarded the Myrtle Mitchell Scholarship. Her activities included membership in Collegiate Pentacle, Kappa Mu Epsilon, Phi Kappa Phi and the Eastern chapter of the Soil Conservation Society of America. After graduation, Robin planned to work towards teaching and research in her field.

Student Leadership Recognized

Milestone awards for Senior Citations in the areas of student government and community service were given to those students who had demonstrated their ability and concern for the students and residents of the Eastern community. Greater development of student rights was the main interest of those in student government; while those in community services planned activities in support of various community-minded organizations.

Collegiate Pentacle, the senior women's honorary, whose members were required to have a 3.0 academic standing and to be active in at least two other campus organizations, recognized the leadership and scholarship qualities of their members. The women participated in such campus projects as student elections, Homecoming and the "Hanging of the Greens". They also sponsored the Emma Y. Case Scholarship and had a banquet for new members.

Working closely with the Office of Student Affairs, Lambda Sigma Society distributed Welcome Wagon packets to incoming freshmen during registration, handed out I.D.'s, and worked at all campus elections. Members also collected canned goods for needy families at Christmas, decorated for the Homecoming Dance, and helped with the Special Olympics. The E.K.U. chapter hosted "Regional Day" for all Lambda Sigma Society chapters in Kentucky and treated new members to a banquet.

Scientific Honoraries Pursue Projects

The international geographic honorary, Gamma Theta Upsilon, dedicated to the furtherance of knowledge and professional development of its members, had many interesting projects this year. Along with presentations on topics geared toward geography, the students enjoyed field trips to race horse farms and Kentucky bourbon distilleries. In addition, the group sponsored a spring break trip to Merida, Yucatan in Mexico where they visited ancient Mayan ruins.

Organized to create a climate congenial to professional growth, Psi Chi held bi-monthly meetings at which they planned activities of a psychological nature. After the initiation of new members in the fall, the honorary viewed and discussed films pertinent to their field; and heard several guest speakers who spoke on psychological trends and new developments in research. Socially, the organization enjoyed a Christmas party at the home of their advisor.

P.E. Honoraries Active

Each monthly meeting of Phi Epsilon Kappa provided time for its members to enjoy a program related to the area of physical education. Guest speakers stimulated discussions of recent developments in their field, and encouraged students and faculty to share their ideas as fellow professionals. The honorary fostered scientific research and promoted community understanding in support of health, recreation and physical education.

Recognizing worthwhile achievement among women in physical education, and cultivating fellowship among members were the primary goals of Delta Psi Kappa. The women served as assistants at the Becky Boone Relays and ran an information booth at the Girls' State High School Basketball Tournament, held at Eastern. Socially they enjoyed a group Thanksgiving dinner, Parents Day activities and a picnic.

Honoraries Provide Camaraderie,

The national military honor society Scabbard and Blade had a full year of activities. The unit provided the sabre arches for the Homecoming Queen candidates and took part in the R.O.T.C. Day activities and the Military Ball. They also served as the honor guard for President Martin's retirement dinner and sponsored Congressman Tim Lee Carter as a guest speaker at one of the society's meetings.

The purpose of Alpha Phi Sigma, the national criminal justice honor society, is to recognize the academic achievement of its members and to inspire pride and efficiency in its members toward work in the criminal justice field. This organization presented an honorary membership to Kentucky State Police Commissioner Truitt Ricks and also worked with the Association of Law Enforcement on Career Day.

Work And Competition

Alpha Psi Omega, a national dramatic honorary open to both theater and non-theater members, initiated students who had taken part in Eastern's dramatic productions. These students had worked either in the technical or acting aspects of dramatics and gained membership through working on a series of productions.

All aspects of speech, ranging from team debating to individual competition, were dealt with by Delta Sigma Rho, Eastern's forensics honorary organization. The group actively participated in many intercollegiate forensic trials and made several field trips.

Honoraries Recognize Achievements

Phi Kappa Phi, the honorary recognizing superior scholarship in all academic disciplines, was formed to promote and recognize those students who have shown excellence in all fields of study while at Eastern. The organization held initiation ceremonies for new members and sponsored several general purpose meetings during the year.

The national professional health service honorary, Eta Sigma Gamma, was formed to further competence and dedication in and for the health sciences. The group's activities included work during the Health Fair in February, a screening night for all health students and sending two members to a National Environmental Health Association meeting in Nashville.

Sigma Tau Pi, the honorary business society, was organized for the purpose of promoting a feeling of unity and fellowship among its members and to establish opportunities for social and educational growth in the business community. Activities for the year included special dinner meetings at local restaurants and occasional speakers at regular meetings. They also went on a field trip to the Cincinnati Branch of the Federal Reserve Bank. A special social was held during the fall semester to commemorate the organization's fiftieth anniversary.

Eastern's oldest honor fraternity, Pi Omega Pi, was organized to foster high ethical standards and scholarship development among business education and professional students in related fields. Members sponsored two money-making projects in order to send delegates to the national convention of Pi Omega Pi in Philadelphia.

Honoraries Aid Other Students

Kappa Mu Epsilon, the math honorary, sought to stimulate an interest in the field of mathematics. Projects hosted by the group included math tutoring sessions, math brain teasers in the Progress and helping with the Mathematical Science Day activities. They also took part in field trips and heard various speeches relating to areas in mathematics. New members were initiated at the annual spring banquet.

The purpose of Kappa Delta Pi, the national educational honorary, was to acknowledge those students who have excelled in attaining elementary and secondary education degrees. The group held several informal get-togethers during the year to discuss their field of study.

And Perform Public Services

Eastern's library science club, Lambda Sigma Omicron, was active this year in volunteer library work, activities for the Mount Maternal Health League and helped prepare a reference book bibliography for the incoming freshmen. The club was formed to educate its members in the use of the library's resources and to aid the members in their ability to perform the duties of library sciences.

Phi Upsilon Omicron, the honorary home economics organization, participated this year in campus and community activities that served and advanced the home economics profession. The group gave a formal dinner party for the home economics faculty, sponsored a home economics departmental forum for high school students and gave a Halloween party at the Kenwood Nursing Home.

Honoraries Support Many Causes

Eastern's Alpha Eta Chapter of Delta Omicron was again recognized as the International Chapter of the Year. The women's honorary promoted an appreciation for good music and helped its members to develop their highest degree of musicianship. The women held two musicals on campus, held a square dance, went Christmas caroling, and gave a musical presentation at the Veteran's Hospital in Lexington. They ended the year with their annual Parent-Alumni Banquet.

Full membership in Sigma Tau Delta was open to those upperclass English majors who had attained a 3.0 G.P.A. Students with an equally high G.P.A. and an abiding interest in English were eligible for associate memberships. Activities for the year included a trip to Actor's Theater in Louisville, a formal dinner and a picnic.

Clubs Travel And Raise Money

The purpose of Rho Epsilon, Eastern's professional real estate fraternity, was to promote professionalism within the real estate field and to upgrade the quality of real estate personnel. The group's activities included a dance and an initiation banquet. They also sent members to the national Rho Epsilon convention in Houston.

Eastern's male P.E. club, the E-Club, stated its purposes as being to work towards the improvement of conditions for athletes, to aid student-faculty relations in the field of athletics and to further the cause of athletics at the university. The club's activities included ushering and selling programs at all of Eastern's home basketball games. The athletes also raised money for the purchase of "E" rings, which go to all seniors who have lettered and participated in the club for three years.

1976-1977 Was A Productive Year As Several New Programs Were Launched

The 1976-77 school year was most productive for the Student Association. Several programs which had been in the making for many months were finally implemented.

With no grades, tests, costs, or academic credit to worry about — Free University became a reality. There was wide participation from students, faculty and administrative staff who volunteered their time and talents to teach classes ranging from such things as frisbee and automechanics for women to Philosophical Study of Idealism. Enthusiasm was high as people eagerly registered for the free classes.

Good People's Food Co-op was also initiated by SA in the fall, and membership was open to everyone. All who joined contributed an equal amount of money and received an equal share of food. Savings on food costs ranged from 25-65 percent.

Money for the Scotia Scholarship Fund was collected by charging entry fees to those craftsmen who had booths at the first annual Scotia Arts and Crafts Fair. The scholarship was established for the purpose of helping a Kentucky high school student, whose father died in a mine related accident, obtain a college education.

Student advisers were provided those students who had to appear before the Student Disciplinary Board for various offenses leading to their suspension. A plan was also submitted to Eastern's President, Dr. J. C. Powell, whereby students could have access to a lawyer at reduced rates.

The Association distributed a simplified "Know Your Rights" booklet, explaining the rights students actually have at Eastern. As an aid in finding frequently needed business, medical, and entertainment places in the Richmond area, EKU students received a "Help Fact Sheet", also published by SA.

Members had an an active part in voter registration prior to the presidential election. Over 1000 students took advantage of the campus registration site.

Plans for a long-awaited, much-discussed 24-hour co-ed study area finally began. A committee was formed to determine the real need for the area and the most appropriate place for its location.

A trip to Fort Lauderdale was arranged through the new student travel service, offering students an opportunity to fly to Florida for one week at a lower rate than the regular fare.

Other programs that were developed include a 24-hour book return at the library, an off-campus living guide, and a mandatory teacher evaluation by students. New projects that were proposed, but not yet adopted were a more extensive health care plan, expanded library hours, and more varieties of entertainment on campus.

Clubs Participate In 1976 Elections

1976 proved to be an exciting year for the College Republicans and Collegiate Democrats. Since it was election year both clubs became very involved in the national elections.

The fall of the year was spent campaigning for the two candidates. In September, the College Republicans held a campus canvass to find out the political feelings of the students. Many of the members volunteered their services at the State Ford Campaign Headquarters. One of the main projects of the group was a voter registration and absentee ballot canvass held in September and October.

The Collegiate Democrats hosted the State Wide Democratic Convention. They also campaigned for their candidate, Mr. Carter; they held a telephone campaign urging citizens to vote. On Election Day they held a nonpartisan car pool for the sick and elderly.

Women's Interdorm Improves Campus Living

With at least three representatives from each of the ten women's dorms, the purpose of Women's Interdorm was to provide a means of self government for women living in dorms. Monthly campus wide activities were sponsored by the group to give people the opportunity to meet new people.

Women's Interdorm devoted a lot of its time to such projects as Telford's parking lot, color T.V.'s in women's dorms, dorm renovation, a revised off-campus living policy, health insurance for students, updating the open house policy, finding a place for students to study after library hours, and obtaining useful equipment such as typewriters and sports equipment for the dorms.

One of three student governing bodies on campus, the Women's Interdorm worked hard to improve campus living.

Men's Interdorm Promotes Campus Wide Events

Der Deutsche Verein Offers Tutoring Services

Men's Interdorm represents all male students living in residence halls on campus. This strategic organization is vitally concerned with all aspects of residence hall life. Through many campus wide events and through daily contact with the students it represents, Men's Interdorm plays an important role in the educational development of EKV students.

After almost losing Der Deutsche Verein due to rumors of dropping German, membership dropped considerably. The members took part in their annual German banquet. Highlights of the year included a trip to Cincinnati to enjoy German culinary delights at one of the German restaurants of the city. Besides offering tutoring sessions, the club also helped with the two day international event sponsored by the foreign language department further promoting the club's objectives of spreading interest in the German culture.

Cerulo Español and Le Cercle Francais Offer Variety Of Activities For Members

Students interested in foreign languages had a variety of clubs in which to participate. Both the Spanish and French clubs provided many activities for their members.

The Cérculo Espanol presented an illustrated talk on the ECU Travel-Study trip to Mexico, and Languages International Open House. Members conducted a fund-raising candy sale for the club and commemorated Dia de las Americas (Pan American Day) on April 14.

All functions of Le Cercle Francais were planned and conducted by its members. Their activities included a Wine and Cheese Tasting party, a formal French Dinner, a breakfast, and several trips to French movies. The club also joined other language clubs in celebration of International Days.

I.S.A. Offers Exchange Of Ideas

The highlight of the year for the International Students was their dinner at which time there was an exchange of food and talent. Unique dishes representing many countries were served to guests and members of the organization.

Entertainment was provided by members of the organization revealing something about the culture of their country.

Baptist Student Union Creates Atmosphere Of Fellowship And Growth

The purpose of the Baptist Student Union is to lead students to a commitment of Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord. The BSU attempts to provide many different weekly activities for fellowship and growth. This includes Bible study, worship experiences, choir, socials, coffeehouses, luncheon program, and service projects to a local nursing home, and a comprehensive care center.

There are several small groups which travel and provide services to churches and other community institutions and agencies throughout the year. Two singing groups, "Forever His" and "Jeremiah Junction" along with the puppeteers and choir will travel to Tennessee, Virginia, and North Carolina during Spring Break and lead special services. Throughout the year youth teams are sent to hold revivals in churches on weekends. Also students are sent each summer as summer missionaries sponsored by the local BSU.

Community Action Projects Are A Sharing Of Faith And Love For Wesley Foundation

To maintain a Methodist ministry for the total campus community is the purpose behind the establishment of the Wesley Foundation. It's goal is to provide for students, faculty, and administration a well balanced program of recreation, fellowship, both social and spiritual, and educational growth.

The Foundation choir travels throughout Kentucky and surrounding states presenting programs of singing. Time is set aside each week for developing singing talents and preparing new presentations.

Special activities conducted by the center are retreats which provide a chance to get away from the hustle and bustle of campus life for an enriching and relaxing weekend. Spiritual encounter groups spend time in self discipline and scripture study. Community action projects send students out to share their faith with elderly people in rest homes, hospitals or wherever they can serve the community.

Newman Center Breaks Ground Circle K Serves Community

With enthusiasm and anticipation high for the summer completion of the Newman Center building to be located between Walters Hall and Wesley Foundation, a lot of energy has been spent on projects benefiting the building fund. Although this was the center's main interest, life continued at the present location on Oak Street. Bible study groups, encounter sessions, speakers and pre-marital classes were provided for members.

Circle K International, a very active service club on Eastern's campus, works in co-operation with their sponsor, the Kiwanis Club on many projects. The group held many fund raising activities and sponsored parties for various institutions.

KDT's Celebrate Fourteen Years Of Service

Commemorating 14 years of service to the campus and community the sisters of Kappa Delta Tau sorority celebrated their Founder's Day in March. Socially the girls held retreats in the fall and spring of the year and a Spring Formal brought the year to a memorable end. At their annual Parent's Day Banquet in December, new officers were installed.

This is the organization's sixth year of sponsoring an American Indian child, helping send her through school. Throughout the year the KDT's served as hostesses at banquets, helped give campus tours, and worked at the polls for campus elections. Around Thanksgiving they collected canned goods for needy families in Richmond and took part in a Thanksgiving service at a Winchester church. On several occasions throughout the year the girls visited Willis Manor.

In December the KDT's assisted in the annual Hanging of the Greens. They also sponsored a Benefit Dance for foster children in the Madison County area. The proceeds from which went toward the purchase of Christmas gifts for those children.

Clubs Develop Understanding For Teaching Profession

Programs in the areas of music, literature, and rights of children in pre-school and the elementary school where only a part of what ACE offered its members. A weekly story hour was conducted by members in the Learning Resource Center of the library.

Music and movement for club members and children from Story Hour with Dr. Arthur Harvey was another successful project sponsored by the club.

Membership to SNEA required enrollment in the educational field, and a person could join regardless of his classification and no specific grade point was required.

The SNEA was a pre-professional organization which strived to develop an understanding and appreciation for the teaching profession.

Club Gives Insight Into Health Fields Service Projects Sponsored By Rec. Club

Membership to the Caduceus Club was open to persons planning a career in medicine, dentistry, and other allied health fields. Throughout the year speakers were sponsored by the club to give its members an insight into the branches of medical schools.

Operation Olympics for the handicapped and the Special Olympics for the mentally handicapped were two service projects in which members of the Rec Club participated. Social as well as service projects were sponsored throughout the year for club members. Membership into the organization was for recreational majors.

SCEC Hosts Statewide Convention

SNEHA Present Award Winning Research Papers

The state wide convention of the Student Council for Exceptional Children was held at Eastern this year for all those with an interest in special education. Local members planned and participated in various activities with exceptional children, including a panel discussion involving prominent Richmond citizens.

Award winning research papers were presented by members of the Student National Environmental Health Association at both state and national conventions, which helped to promote their aim of developing the environmental health program at Eastern. The group also conducted bi-monthly paper drives throughout the year.

Club Sponsors Therapy Services

Sigma Alpha Eta sponsored lectures, films, and video tapes for its members from speech and audiology. A buddy system was incorporated by the club to help freshmen and sophomores in the field. The group continued therapy services for the University and Richmond community. Members were sent to nearby counties to screen for problems.

Students were also sent to other universities to examine their graduate programs in speech and audiology.

Clubs Active In Area Of Home Economy

Eastern's Food and Nutrition Club enjoyed a year full of activities. Two guest speakers presented topics on membership requirements of the American Dietetic Association, and how nutrition information can be conveyed to the public. As a money-making project, members held a spaghetti supper in February. They ended the year with their annual banquet and awarded a deserving club member the Regina Nehaus Memorial Scholarship.

More friendly faculty/student relationship were encouraged and developed at the pot-luck supper held by the EKV American Home Economics

Association. The group acquainted themselves with the foods and customs of other countries at their international foods party. Members attended a state wide workshop on aging, the handicapped, and consumerism, and enjoyed a fashion show held by a consultant from J.C. Penney's.

Vocational Skills Outgrowth Of Clubs' Projects

Not an honor society, the MBA Association requires no specific grade point, as all graduates are required to maintain a 3.0 GPA.

The primary objective of the association is to publish an MBA journal which is composed of business articles submitted by the members. Approximately forty pages per issue the journal is published six times a year.

In conjunction with the Bank of Richmond they conducted a seminar in small business record keeping for the small businessmen of the local area.

Phi Beta Lambda, a professional business organization, helps students develop vocational competencies for business and office occupations and business teacher education.

Among the projects carried out were campus tours for visiting seniors, typing resumes for business students and a faculty appreciation tea. Professionally, members of Phi Beta Lambda attended various leadership conferences.

Clubs Give Members A Look At Their Field

In an effort to broaden their knowledge of the accounting profession, members of the Accounting Club took field trips to accounting firms and other businesses. These trips provided club members with an in depth look at the various areas for a career in accounting. Guest speakers were sponsored by the organization from accounting related professions.

Tutoring sessions were conducted by club members to help beginning accounting students with their classes. The club also participated in a Volunteer Income Tax Assistance Program for area residents and EKU Students.

The ASID provided social and professionally related activities for its members and took trips to many parts of the country to visit places of interest for design students. The annual symposium featured several well known designers.

ALE Assists Career Day In Criminal Justice

The Association of Law Enforcement was formed in 1969 with the purpose of giving students an opportunity to belong to a law enforcement career oriented organization.

Annual projects of the ALE include a broad scope of educational, social, and service projects. Educational projects for the year have included such things as field trips, movies, and guest speakers. Tours of the Federal Correctional Institute at Lexington and the Kentucky State Reformatory at LaGrange have been provided for ALE members.

The Fall Banquet was a major social and educational event of the year with Chief Justice Scott Reed of the Kentucky Supreme Court as the guest speaker. As a service project the ALE volunteered workers for the campus blood drive.

On Career Day in Criminal Justice when representatives of federal, state and local law enforcement agencies, correctional institutes, probation and parole offices and private industries came to Eastern to recruit students to their organizations the ALE assisted in setting up the activities.

Clubs Sponsor A Host Of Speakers

The Ag Club fostered leadership and cooperation with others interested in Agriculture. Several projects were carried out by the members throughout the year. These projects provided funds for field trips and a variety of other activities.

Members of all branches of the AUSA were honored during the halftime festivities on ROTC Day at Eastern during the fall semester.

At the annual Military Ball and banquet, held in the Keen Johnson Ball Room, the speaker was past ECU President Dr. Robert R. Martin. Members of all the branches of army ROTC were present for the occasion.

A variety of speakers were sponsored throughout the year. The AUSA provided volunteers for the annual blood drive on campus.

Honor Units Excel In Competition

The Pershing Rifles, a national honorary military fraternity and their coed affiliates, the Valianettes, sold homecoming mums, provided personnel at many university functions, and were active in community service projects.

The Pershing Rifles traveled to Invitational Drill Meets at Dayton Ohio and Champaign Illinois where they took top honors. They also took first place at their Regimental Meet at Columbus Ohio.

The Valianettes traveled to meets at Dayton, Columbus, Cincinnati and Champaign, Illinois where they brought home a total of five first, three second, and two third place trophies. They also marched in the annual Veteran's Day Parade in Cumberland, Kentucky.

M.P.'s Offer Services To Red Cross

The Military Police Company is a service organization working on campus and in the Richmond Community. During the early hours of the morning they work with the Richmond police helping direct traffic to keep it moving smoothly along Lancaster Avenue. Collecting donations for charities such as the Red Cross and Heart Fund are their major service projects. During the campus Red Cross Blood Drive the company assists in organizing and setting up the operations.

Recognized as Eastern's official color guard, they serve as such for parades, football games, and basketball games taking place on campus.

Members Attend Fall Symposium

In an attempt to increase public awareness in the area of creative aquatics, the Catalina Club expanded its activities. Members attended the Eastern and Southeastern Regional Symposium for the National Institute for Creative Aquatics in the fall of the year. The Catalina Club presented a show for the Phi Mu Alpha Parent's Day Program.

Gretchen Schroeder presented a solo routine for national competition in the spring and the club presented their annual water show in April. The show's theme based on the events of a person's life featured a trip to the zoo, football games, romance, and a family reunion as the finale, thus bringing Catalina's season to a spectacular close.

Dance Theatre Stimulates Interest In Dance

The EKU Dance Theatre is a service organization using creative dance to stimulate interest in dance as an art in the university community. Concerts are held each fall and spring. The dances are choreographed by the members of the club. Their services go beyond the community.

They performed for the annual Kentucky Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation convention in Louisville. The club also held a performance and technique class for a local high school.

Ensemble And Players Create Art Interest

The University Ensemble under the direction of Gregg White and Peter Mabsen is now in its ninth year of service. The group has toured throughout Kentucky and neighboring states with their repirtoire of gospel and spiritual music intergrated into a fresh intimate and contemporary setting without jeopardizing the depth and natural beauty of the music of Black Culture. The Ensembles main goal is to carry the message of God in a song.

Membership into the University Players is open to all people interested in theatre arts. The club helps promote theatre both on and off campus. The University Players assist with school productions as well as sponsoring a reception held on opening nights. Trips to other universities and professional theatres are also organized so club members have a chance to see other dramatic productions.

Halftime Shows Are Diversified

The season began with a five day band camp on campus where the fundamentals used by the band were taught and the first two shows and pre-game were undertaken. Membership to the Marching Maroons is open to all students enrolled at Eastern who have had prior experience in band.

The 180 member Marching Maroons enjoyed an exciting year in 1976 with the five scheduled home performances of the football games plus an away trip to Western on October 23. The unexpected, but welcome Division II playoffs held at Eastern made it possible for one more performance.

Show themes for the season were diversified. The Marching Maroons presented shows from Kiddieland, on the rock group Chicago, saluted holidays and presented "Love Is" at Homecoming. Joined by the Third Annual Alumni Band for the halftime show at Homecoming, the Marching Maroons made their performance in the rain. Band Day found some forty high schools joining the Marching Maroons in a salute to George M. Cohen.

Little Colonels Demonstrate Original Style

Halftimes of both the football and basketball games were filled with the high-kicking, fancy-stepping performances of the Little Colonel Drill Team. The girls did original routines choreographed by the co-captains and lieutenants and accompanied by the Marching Maroons. Their excitement and enthusiasm helped boost the school spirit of Eastern's sports fans.

When they were not performing, members worked in the information and press boxes. They also sold football programs to help raise money for their equipment.

Photographic Coverage Takes Skill

Whether it was a sorority rush party, fraternity smoker, athletic event, special banquet, lecture, concert, Board of Regents meeting, or an endless number of other events involving the Eastern Community; the staff of energetic photographers was there. An often heard statement in the office was "I can't be in a dozen places at once;" but, miraculously, they seemed to appear wherever the action was on campus.

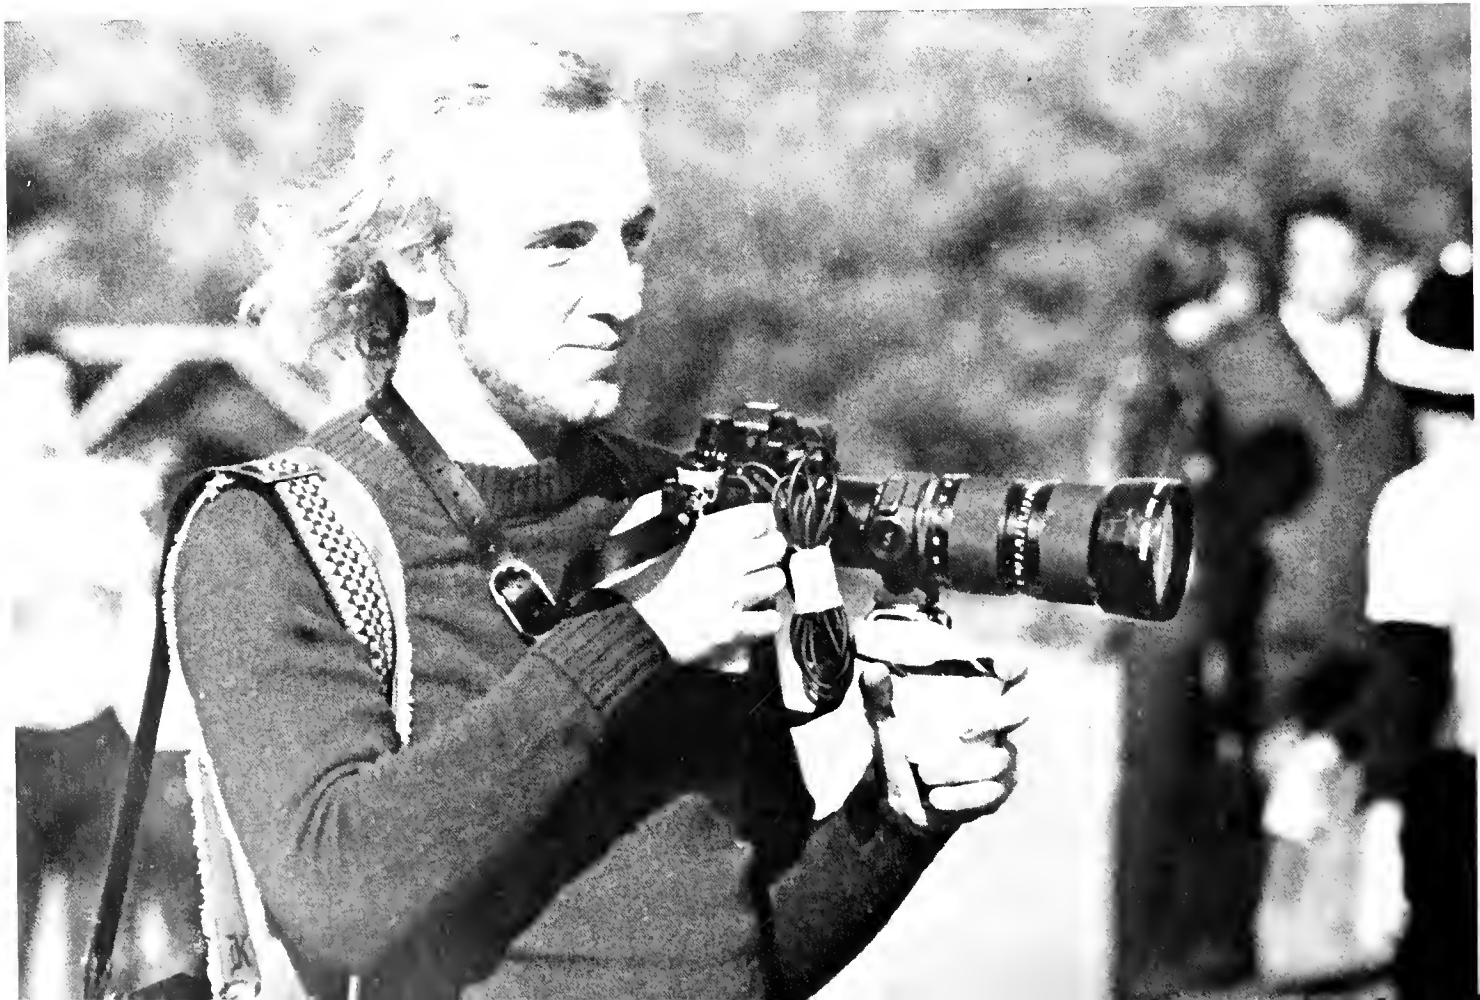

Larry Bailey, Paul Lambert, and their staff of student photographers continued to use their abounding creativity to capture the frequent excitement, work, and sometimes, agony, of college life on film. The finished products were displayed in such major publications as the Milestone, Eastern Progress, and Alumnus Magazine; as well as for public relations reasons.

Aurora Publishes Student Works

The student staff of the Aurora carefully reviewed and edited students' poems, creative essays, art work and short stories for publication in the annual magazine. The Aurora magazine staff is composed primarily of English and art majors, and is under the direction of Dr. William Sutton, Dr. Harry Brown, and Dr. Gordon Browning of the English Department, and Mr. Donald Dewey assistant professor of art.

In addition to publishing the Aurora magazine, the staff and advisors selected the best poem and short essay written by a student to be recognized at Honor's Day ceremonies.

The Aurora staff also helped sponsor the Bluegrass Poetry Circuit in which several central Kentucky colleges and universities participated.

Milestone Staff Produces 54th Volume

The staff of the 1977 Milestone worked diligently throughout the year producing another book depicting the events and highlights of life at ECU. Many long hours and hard work went into the publication of the 54th volume of the yearbook. Working well into the night meant nothing to the dedicated staff of the Milestone. Tempers peaked as pictures would not fit the layout or an editor would find himself just inches short of enough copy. Although there were times when nothing went right, everyone remained dedicated under the strong editorship of John Madras and Janet Smith.

Members of the staff attended the Associated Collegiate Press Convention in Chicago where they acquired many new skills and developed innovative ideas which they brought back to share with their fellow members aiding them in making another volume of the Milestone.

In the spring of the year, members of the staff visited Delmar Printing Company in Charlotte, North Carolina to view the book's progress. The production came to an end with the Milestone being delivered by Delmar Printing Company and its distribution to the students. The year was finalized with the annual awards banquet where editor John Madras presented the official university copy to Dr. J. C. Powell.

Progress Undergoes Changes

Each year the Eastern Progress produces approximately thirty issues covering a variety of campus activities. This year as always many changes occurred within the organization.

For the first time an entertainment page was added which met with much success. Three comic strips, mathematical brain teasers, and a column on student health services written by Dr. Coles Raymond, director of student health services, were also added successfully to the variety of new items found in the Progress.

Advertising, gutters, and oversized pictures were among the problems creating headaches for the editors of the Progress. Often these problems would destroy a whole page plan and the editor would then have to rework his entire layout. Clashes arose from time to time over forgotten ads that had to be placed at the last minute. Frustration and anxiety often accompanied the hard work in publishing the paper.

In the end the frustrations combined with the satisfaction of seeing the Progress' publication leaving behind the bad memories to be replaced with the good.

Panhel Aids In Greek Rush

The Panhellenic Council is the coordinating body for sororities, composed of two representatives of each of the nine organizations. Panhel began the year by coordinating rush for the fall and spring semesters. The council set up coke stands and passed out information and Greek Buttons to new freshmen and parents on moving in days. A display room was also set up to familiarize students with sororities. The new ideas successfully helped pledge 134 girls fall term.

At Thanksgiving, the council delivered fruit baskets to Willis Manor. Christmas was a time for carolling to hospital patients, helping in the traditional "Hanging of the Greens" and decorating the student activities office. They also sent Valentine cards to hospital patients and held an Easter egg hunt for Brockton children.

IFC Promotes Greek Expansion

The InterFraternity Council experienced welcome prosperity and growth during the year. Growth, not only in the number of fraternities on Eastern's campus, which increased by two due to the expansion proceedings carried on by the I.F.C., but growth in the special seminars and workshops sponsored by the InterFraternity Council in an effort to promote the ideals of brotherhood, scholarship, service, and leadership in the twelve individual fraternities and the colonies of Sigma Pi and Lambda Chi Alpha.

The I.F.C. annually presents awards to member organizations for outstanding work in the areas of scholarship and community service. Through cooperation with national fraternity headquarters and other national and regional fraternal organizations, the InterFraternity Council strives to maintain its ever increasing service to the social fraternities at Eastern.

Alpha Delta Pi Sponsors Racquetball Tourney

The sisters of Alpha Delta Pi began the fall semester by carrying off a second place trophy in both the Sigma Chi Derby and the Theta Chi volleyball tournament. They also participated in the Phi Mu Swim-a-thon, SAE County Fair and the TKE basketball tournament. In November, they honored their parents at their annual Parents Day festivities. Prior to the luncheon held at Boone Tavern in Berea, the parents had a chance to visit the sorority floor and see the newly redecorated chapter room.

Initiation and installation of new officers opened the spring semester. Plans began for the annual Racquetball Tournament held in March. Proceeds collected from the tournament were donated to a local charity.

The sisters of Gamma Omicron were involved in many Greek sponsored activities. Highlighting the athletic events was their annual softball tournament for the campus sororities in the spring.

Socially, the sisters entertained their parents for a weekend in the fall. The parents joined them in cheering on the Colonels to victory at the Middle Tennessee game. Afterwards, they were treated to a buffet dinner and later visited the sorority floor. Christmas formal in Lexington was complete with a cocktail party which featured holiday appetizers. Spring formal and the annual awards banquet was held in Gatlinburg. The sisters ended the year with plans to attend their national convention held in July in Oklahoma.

Throughout the year, the Alpha Gams continued to raise funds for their national altruistic project, Minimal Brain Dysfunction. They also began a local Buddy Program with friends from Willis Manor.

The Zeta Nu chapter sponsored various projects, service oriented as well as social. Among the service projects are the Barbara Hunter Scholarship — a scholarship presented annually in honor of Barbara Hunter, a member of the sorority who was the first woman and the first black student to receive a masters degree in chemistry at Eastern. The sorority also sponsored a Richmond youth at the Richmond Model School by paying his tuition.

The sisters contribute to the Martin Luther King Fund and the National Council of Negro Women. Various other projects such as canned food drives and visiting homes for the elderly are carried out by the chapter.

Betas Celebrate Fifth Anniversary

The Betas started their fall semester with a preference party for their newly acquired fall pledges. Their Homecoming celebration included their five year anniversary as a chapter at Eastern. The weekend was highlighted by a football game between the visiting alumni and actives.

The brothers were strong competitors in intramurals, placing second in volleyball and third in football. They also participated in the Theta Chi volleyball and TKE basketball tournaments.

The Delta Xi chapter held their annual football tournament for Eastern's fraternities and sororities. They also held their 6th annual basketball tournament for neighboring Beta chapters.

The second annual Parent's Day in October concluded with President J. C. Powell addressing the parents and Betas with his first public speaking appearance as President of the university.

Spring semester found the brothers enjoying the sun of Florida during spring break, a fund raising campaign for the March of Dimes.

Chi O's Dominate Athletics

The sisters of Chi Omega began the year with life and spirit as they constructed a Homecoming float with the brothers of Kappa Alpha Order to the theme of "Love is Fall Football".

In November, they hosted their parents at Parent's Day. During January, the biannual Alumni Weekend was held and in February each sister invited her favorite professor to a Faculty Tea.

Athletically, the Chi O's excelled. They won first place honors in the Beta football, TKE basketball and Theta Chi volleyball tournaments.

In the area of civic kindness, they donated a Thanksgiving basket to a needy family in Richmond. Their Christmas kindness was donating money to a deserving family.

KΑΨ Receives IFC Civic Award

Eta Alpha Chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity was the smallest fraternity on Eastern's campus. Overcoming this handicap, they received the InterFraternity Council Civic Award and the Kappa Alpha Psi South Central Provincial Leadership Award. These two awards were given on the basis of a fraternity doing the most work within the community, college environment and within its provincial region which included Kentucky and Tennessee.

This year's service projects included an Adopt-A-House campaign which the chapter painted a house downtown. Another civic undertaking was 'Operation Can Goods' and 'Party for the Poor'. These two projects were done in conjunction with one another in order to provide food on Thanksgiving Day for needy families in the community. Other service projects were Kappa Week, the second annual scholarship fund in the girls' basketball tournament and tutoring students within the community.

The Eta Alpha chapter of Sigma Chi began the year with plans of their annual Derby Week. The painted windows of the downtown stores, spirit portrayed in songs sung by sororities at the Sigma Chi house and the chase to obtain a derby from one of the brothers characterized the festivities of the week. The competition between the sororities at the events of the Derby brought the week to an end.

In the area of civic kindness, the brothers sponsored a haunted house during Halloween which raised money for Sigma Chi's national charity, Wallace Village, a school in Colorado for the mentally handicapped.

In the field of athletics, the Sigs participated in several intramural sports in the fall and won the intramural track meet. They also placed first in the SAE County Fair.

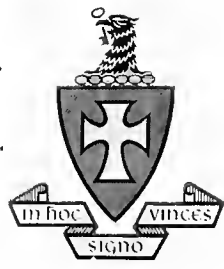

In the area of social events, the brothers held their homecoming dance in Lexington and saw the return of many alumni. Also in the fall was the Sweet-heart Dance.

SIGMA NU

Sigma Nu's Support Colonels At Western

The brothers of Sigma Nu participated in several events involving the inner-Greek system, athletic spirit and the campus. They brought home honors in the Phi Mu Swim-a-Thon. They also participated in the Beta football, TKE basketball and Du soccer tournaments as well as all divisions of intramurals.

In October, the traditional 200 mile bike ride to Western Kentucky University took the brothers to cheer on the Colonels in the fall football battle.

In the spirit of Christmas, they again carried on traditions as they prepared the wreaths and ropes of garland for the annual Hanging of the Greens which ushered in the season for the Eastern community.

In February, the brothers visited Lexington, Virginia, the site of the Sigma Nu National Headquarters where their spring pledge class was initiated.

Tekes Celebrate Tenth Year On Campus

The Mu Beta chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon celebrated their tenth birthday as a local on campus in October. The chapter, along with alums from the last ten years attended the Middle Tennessee football game and afterwards enjoyed a cook-out at the house. Athletically, the Tekes defended their all sports trophy from the previous year. The fraters also sponsored their annual basketball tournament in December.

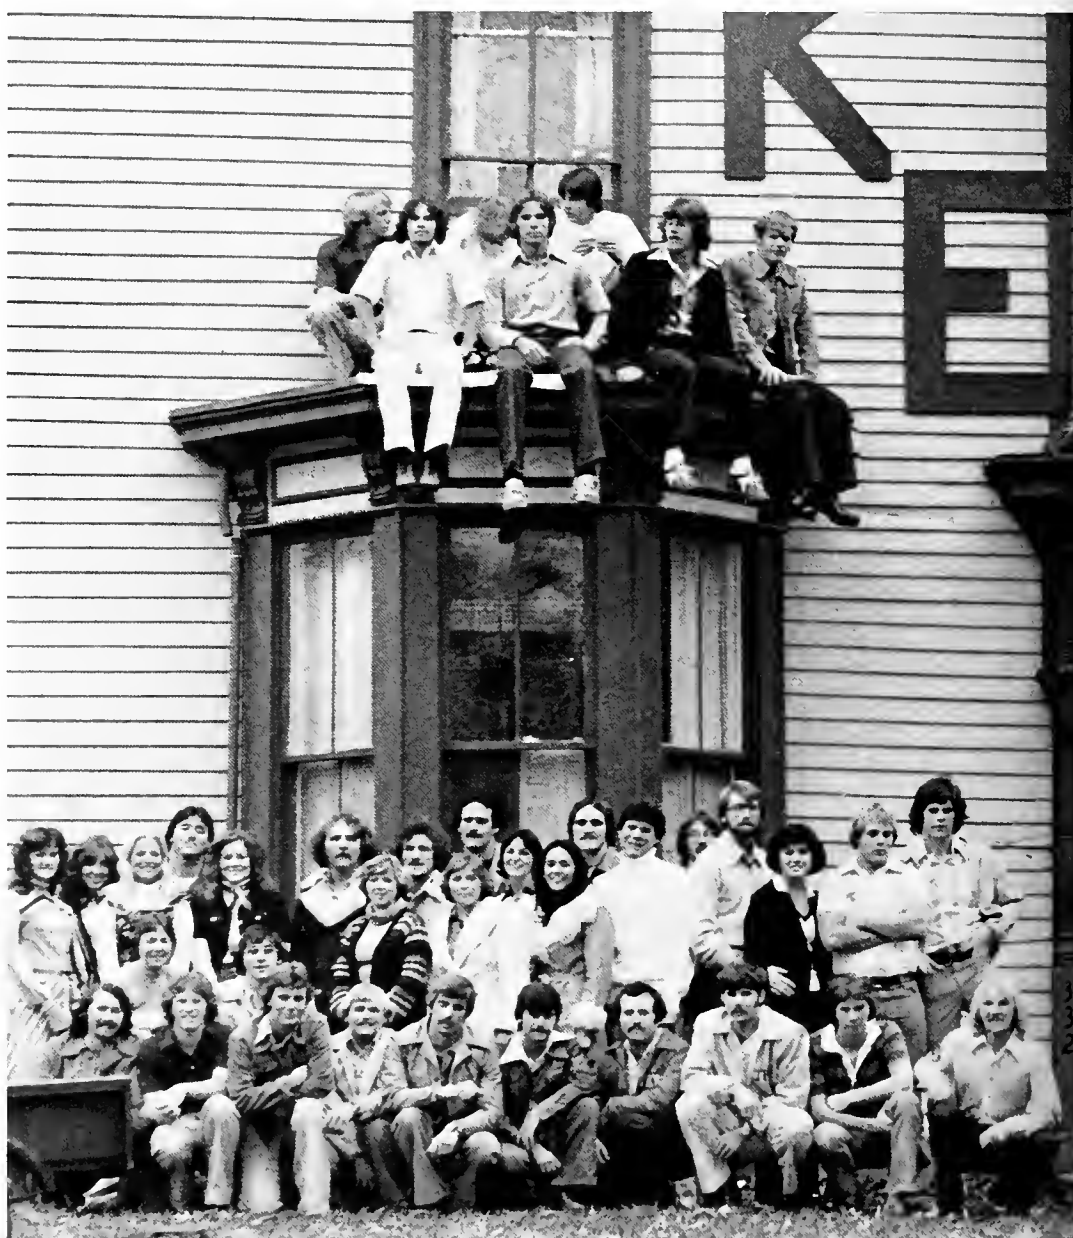

Community service projects included parking cars at White Hall State Shrine during its Labor Day Celebration. They also sponsored a blood drive for the Shriners Children Hospital in Lexington.

Social events included Homecoming and the Christmas Sweetheart Ball both held in Lexington. Their social calendar was concluded with the Red Carnation Ball held in April at Gatlinburg, Tennessee.

Omegas Show Concern For Blood Diseases

The Omega's started the year with a variety of programs such as smokers and dances to interest freshmen and others in pledging the fraternity.

The fraternity showed its pride in achievements in the area of community events in hopes of benefiting the campus community. They sponsored a community workshop service to benefit the NAACP. They also co-sponsored a Sickie Cell Testing Day in cooperation with the sisters of Delta Sigma Theta. In addition, they sponsored "Black Achievement Week" to foster appreciation for the achievements and accomplishments of Black Americans. The week also included films on Black history and the Founders Day Program for the fraternity highlighted by an Achievement Banquet. The banquet featured an outstanding Omega man in the clergy and the recognition of the local chapter brothers in the field of scholarship and athletics.

The spring semester was highlighted by the annual Omega Week, a Variety Show and the annual Easter Egg Hunt for the children of Richmond.

In addition to the achievements in civic kindness, the brothers of Omega Psi Phi also participated in intramural and campus activities.

Seniors Anticipate The Future

The Class of '77 was one of the most active and productive class organization in years at Eastern. The class has participated in activities such as a seminar for foreign students, a talent show for the Cancer Society, and collected toys for needy children.

Part of the class' success has been due to the sponsorship of faculty members Geri Polvino and Jack Callender.

ABOVE: Moving in usually turns out to be more of a job than most students expect. Patient parents generally make the task a little easier.

Juniors Await Last Year At Eastern

Completing their final year as underclassmen, the class of 1978 gained momentum to realize their potentials and importance on Eastern's campus.

Beginning in the fall with elections for a Homecoming queen candidate, the juniors participated in and supported many campus activities. Then continuing tradition, the junior class sponsored their major project, the third annual University Talent Show.

Along with the sophomore class, they coordinated their efforts into producing a successful show which benefited the American Cancer Crusade as well as the entire campus and Richmond community.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS. Robin Stoddard, Secretary-Treasurer; Laura Todd, President; Denise Cox, Vice-President.

Class Of '79 Has Successful Year

The class of 1979 encountered an interesting second year at Eastern. After becoming settled into the campus routine of studying and socializing, they became better prepared to become leaders on campus.

The sophomores sponsored their own money-making project, which was selling Turkey-Grams. They made Thanksgiving cards, sold and delivered the greetings to students on campus. The project was very successful.

Along with the junior class, they helped to sponsor the third annual University Talent Show. The proceeds went to charity, and it also provided entertainment for the students on campus.

Freshmen Adjust To College Life

Upon entering Eastern Kentucky University, Freshman class members have many adjustments to make. They face a whole new life away from the shelter and security of their families.

Housing arrangements, social activities, and eating and sleeping schedules are a few of the vast changes that one must encounter when they go to college. Travel schedules are also significant in that many freshmen find themselves packing up and going home on weekends.

All considered, the class of 1980 look forward to their four years of college life and await a great deal of challenges before completing their higher education.

Leaves have their time to fall,
And flowers to wither at the north wind's breath,
And stars to set — but all,
Thou hast all seasons for thine own, O Death!

FELICIA DOROTHEA HEMANS

EDITOR'S NOTE

The 54th volume of the Milestone is the result of the combined efforts of Eastern students who worked in its preparation without any monetary compensation but only personal satisfaction of a job well done. It was not a job done by any single individual but by many staff members who strived to produce a yearbook depicting the 1976-1977 academic year at Eastern Kentucky University.

When I accepted the job of editor, I didn't fully comprehend the task that lay in front of me. I anticipated problems, but the intensity of the ones I encountered were not realized by me at the onset of the year. I was merely an administrator performing the organizational functions behind a group of hardworking yearbook staffers.

The completion of the Milestone could never have been successful if not for my Managing Editor, Janet Leigh Smith. Janet was more than my assistant. She was the technical backbone of the book, filling in all the gaps where a lack of skill occurred. Besides performing the duties of Managing Editor she also edited the Greek section and the Academic section. Thank you Janet for making up for my weaknesses and doing an excellent job.

The section editors were the best an editor could wish for. Individuals filling these positions were the work horses on the staff. They all produced quality work that converted all of the planning into completed pages. A special thanks goes to these editors: Debbie Eskridge, Student Life; Rick Yeh, Sports; Allen Engle, Honors; Stephanie Puckett, Organizations; Connie Hall, Seniors; Sarah Gooch and Greg Lamping, Underclasses; and Cheryl Combs, Index.

The 1977 Milestone was complemented by a staff of skilled photographers headed by Larry Bailey, Photographic Editor who also served as an assistant to our advisor and was broken in well during the final weeks of the work on the book. Larry was assisted by Paul Lambert, University Photographer; and student photographers Rick Yeh, Steve Brown, Dave Chestnut, Alan Krantz and John Maeder.

Recognition is also in line for Doug Whitlock who served as Milestone advisor. Thank you Doug for listening to my complaints and problems during the year. Vice President Donald R. Feltner was also a vital source of advice as the year proceeded. Don Rist, Director of University Publications, aided us in decisions on the graphic aspects of the book.

No yearbook would be possible without the aid of a publishing and photographic company to assist in its production. Thank you to all of the people at Delmar Publishing Company and Osborne Photographic Lab, without whom this volume would not have been in its final form.

The year was one of learning and realizations for me. Being editor was an experience which I will carry with me as a fulfilling part of my college career. Thank you to all of the people who made the fulfillment and the completion of the 1977 Milestone a reality.

John Richard Madras

Specifications

The 1977 MILESTONE was prepared by the students of Eastern Kentucky University and printed by offset lithography by Delmar Printing Company, Charlotte, North Carolina.

The paper stock is 80-pound Westvaco Coronation dull offset stock; with the gatefold printed on 100-pound stock.

The cover is a Maroon Cordoba with blind embossures, applied foil stamping and a black overtone.

Body copy for the opening pages is Century 14 point with two-point leading; and for the remainder of the book Century 10- and 12-point with two-point leading. All outlines are eight-point. Senior listings are 10-point and underclasses, nine-point. Headlines are Century School-book.

Divisional pages are printed in black and gold duotones.

Cameras used to photograph activity pictures both four-color and black-and-white included Nikon (35mm), Minolta (35mm), Nikkormat (35mm), Rolleiflex (2 1/4 x 2 1/4), Mamiyaflex (2 1/4 x 2 1/4), and Hasselblad (2 1/4 x 2 1/4). Lens focal lengths used ranged from wide angle, 18mm, to telephoto 400 mm. Senior and underclass portraits were photographed with a Beatie Portronic Camera 70mm, using dual Speedotron strobe lights, by Osborne Photographic Laboratories, Cincinnati.

Press run was 8,500 copies.
